REAGAN WINS BY NEARLY A MILLION

ASSEMBLYMAN WILLIAM BAGLEY, REP. DON CLAUSEN
Winners by comfortably large majorities

Young, Pockrus Down To Defeat

State Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, with a 21,000 lead in Marin County, coasted to an easy victory over Democratic Assemblyman Pearce Young, who carried both Napa and Solano Counties for election in the newly expanded Fourth Senatorial District.

Young's margin in heavily Democratic counties of Napa and Solano cut McCarthy's overall lead to 9,662.

McCarthy, who has served in the Senate for 16 years, the last seven as minority leader, will go back to Sacramento for four years.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, easily outdistanced James E. Pockrus, D-Rohnert Park, as expected. Bagley won with a whopping 65,299 votes to Pockrus's 29,209 in the Seventh Asembly District, which comprises Marin and the southern half of Sonoma County.

Bagley's victory was far bigger than his 1964 win over the same opponent.

SENATE

	McCarthy	Young
Marin	45,082	24,076
Napa	12,755	16,461
Solano	15,968	23,606

Rep. Clausen Over Storer

Rep. Don H. Clausen, Crescent City, Republican, breezed to a 2-to-1 victory over Marin County Supervisor Thomas T. Storer, Point Reyes Station, Democrat, in the First Congressional District election yesterday.

A smattering of write-in votes for peace candidate Phil Drath of San Rafael (estimated to be about 200 in Marin County) scarcely entered the picture, as Clausen swept to a 142,863 to 76,610 victory over Storer.

Clausen's win was even more impressive than his 1964 showing against George E. McCabe of Santa Rosa, when the incumbent congressman rolled up a 141,048 to 97,651 victory.

Here are the votes in the six-county First Congressional District:

	Clausen	Storer
Marin	43,083	25,010
Sonoma	43,468	23,595
Napa	20,469	8,949
Mendocino	11,596	5,039
Humboldt	20,755	12,224
Del Norte	3,492	1,793
Totals	142,863	76,610

Lynch Only Demo

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Eleventh-hour campaign momentum carried Republican Robert H. Finch, a veteran political strategist, to easy victory as lieutenant governor yesterday.

And it appeared Republicans could all but sweep the major state offices behind Gov-Elect Ronald Reagan.

Finch ousted two-term Democrat Glenn M. Anderson from California's No. 2 post and Ivy Baker Priest, former Treasurer of the United States, got a surge in returns this morning to put her narrowly ahead of incumbent Treasurer Bert A. Betts, a Democrat.

JORDAN WINS

Republican Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan won a seventh term over Norbert A. Schlei and Assemblyman Houston I. Flournoy, a Republican, steadily chipped away at the lead of Democratic Controller Alan Cranston.

The only one of five incumbent Democrats to cinch reelection was Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch, who defeated Spencer Williams, the Santa Clara County Counsel.

FINCH MARGIN

Finch's victory margin was about 58 per cent, just about that of Reagan over Gov. Brown. Reagan had called for election of a Reagan-Finch ticket.

Returns from more than 75 per cent of the state's 28,573 precincts showed these totals:

Lieutenant governor: Finch 2,900,307, Anderson 1,997,722.

Attorney general: Lynch 2,610,123, Williams 2,105,100.

Secretary of state: Jordan 2,666,868, Schlei 2,109,812.

Controller: Cranston 2,878,184, Flournoy 2,901,089.

Treasurer: Priest 2,428,002, Betts 2,383,747.

Lagunitas School Loan, Bonds Fail

Lagunitas School District voters narrowly rejected a $240,000 bond issue and a $300,000 state loan yesterday for the third rejection of the proposals in the past year.

The bond issue received a yes vote of 618 and a no vote of 333, which gave it a 64.98 per cent favorable vote, just short of the necessary two-thirds majority.

The vote on the state loan was 596 yes and 320 no for a 65.06 per cent favorable vote, short of two thirds needed.

District voters rejected similar proposals in February and June.

If State Proposition 4, to lower the percentage of "yes" votes required for school bond issues from two-thirds to 60 per cent, had passed in yesterday's election, the Lagunitas bond and tax issues would have passed. But the proposition, too, was defeated.

Mill Valley Turns Down Bond Issues

Mill Valley voters defeated two bond issues yesterday, a $500,000 issue for sewer improvement and a $300,000 issue to finance a public safety building.

The sewer bond issue narrowly missed the required two-thirds approval, with a vote of 3,201 yes to 1,774 no—a 64.34 per cent favorable vote.

The public safety building issue failed to muster a majority in favor. The vote on it was 2,553 no to 2,372 yes.

Mayor Albert E. White declared today the result "does not change the need for the improvements." Funds for sewer improvements, "either

'Clean' Ballot Loses; Bonds, Revision Win

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Opponents of an antiobscenity initiative claimed victory at the polls today over Proposition 16 but were warned by Gov.-elect Ronald Reagan he would press for passage of a similar measure in the legislature.

Proposition 16 was one of three key issues on the ballot.

The others involved revision of the California Constitution and a $230 million bond issue for higher education. Both received voter approval. (See table, page 14.)

Methodist Bishop Donald H. Tippet, co-chairman of the "Californians Against Proposition 16," called the defeat of the measure "a tribute to the essential sanity of the California electorate."

But Reagan called the measure "a priority item of business in the legislature. I will work to get legislation passed to deal with the problem."

During his campaign, Reagan had called for passage of the initiative as a "mandate" of the people to show their feelings on pornography.

But Bishop Tippet, speaking on behalf of Co-chairman Edmund Edelman, a Los Angeles city councilman, said:

"The proposition sought to substitute the rule of vigilante censorship for the rule of law

Body Found Under Bridge

The partly decomposed body of a man, a possible murder victim, was discovered under the Bon Air Bridge in Larkspur yesterday.

Police were trying today to identify the body, which was found about 3 p.m. by officers Charles J. Mattos and George Newman after Joseph Monestier, Larkspur street department foreman, told them he had been noticing "a bad odor" from under the bridge.

The body was in a sleeping bag marked "USMC" and was under a pile of bricks, boards and rubbish under the Larkspur approach to the bridge.

Some National Election Data

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Facts on yesterday's elections:

In 35 governorship contests, Republicans won 22, Democrats 11, two are undecided.

Republicans picked up a net gain of three in Senate races, making the new lineup 64 Democrats to 36 Republicans.

Democrats won 244 of the 435 House races and were leading in 5, while Republicans won 183 and were leading in 3. The potential Republican gain was 46.

Promptly Denies President Hope

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Political newcomer Ronold Reagan today won California's governorship in a landslide that made him a national GOP political force. But he promptly denied presidential hopes in 1968.

In his first bid for political office, Reagan swept into the helm of the nation's most populous state by overpowering two-term Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

At a victory celebration, Reagan supporters unfurled a "Reagan for President" banner. But the governor-elect said he did not even plan to make a "favorite son" bid for the presidency.

CONSERVATIVE LEADER

The victory made him the newly-crowned leader of GOP conservatives but Reagan said he did not think his victory signaled a swing to conservatism in California. He scorned the use of "labels."

However, conservative backers made it plain they saw him as inheriting the mantle of former U.S. Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, overwhelmed as GOP presidential standard-bearer in 1964.

With 25,101 of the state's 28,573 precincts reporting, Reagan had 3,089,208 votes to 2,229,696 for Brown. His victory margin was pushing toward the million vote mark.

Brown, 61, ending a political career that spanned a quarter century, conceded about two hours after the polls closed.

NOT NARROW

Shortly afterward, Reagan appeared at his campaign headquarters and said his showing was "not any narrow partisan victory." "Partisanship ends as of today," he pledged.

"Now the big job begins," he said. "If we are going to make the creative society work we're going to need the help of every one of you."

Reagan said he had spoken to Republican Gov. George Romney of Michigan, another big winner, and said Romney told him: "Maybe now the important thing is that we can put together throughout the country what you have put together in California."

"It looks now like Mr. Reagan won this campaign," Brown said. His backers shouted, "No" but Brown quieted them by saying: "I

Marin Goes Along With The Winners

Marin voters went with the winner yesterday.

In a near-record turnout they gave majorities to every victor in the state's Republican-dominated election—provided incumbent Democrat Alan Cranston for state controller and Republican challenger Ivy Baker Priest for state treasurer do not unexpectedly lose out in late vote counts. Cranston's lead over Republican challenger Houston I. Flournoy vanished today, but Mrs. Priest's edge over incumbent Democrat Bert A. Betts appeared safe.

ONE RACE

In one race, Marin made the difference.

A whopping 21,073-vote majority for Republican State Sen. John F. McCarthy of San Rafael in his home county give him re-election, although he failed to carry the Napa and Solano county portions of the newly expanded Fourth Senatorial District against challenger Pearce Young.

Marin went for Ronald Reagan for governor (57.24 per cent), Robert H. Finch for lieutenant governor (63.74 per cent, Frank M. Jordon for secretary of state (61.32 per cent), Thomas C. Lynch for attorney general (53.5 per cent), and Paul R. Leake for state board of equalization (60.18 per cent)—all winners.

FOR CLAUSEN

It was with every other county in the First Congressional District in returning majorities for incumbent Republican Congressman Don H. Clausen, who got 65.18 per cent of the Marin vote.

Marin voters gave a whopping 69.52 per cent of their votes to another Marin product, William T. Bagley, who easily won re-

College Board To Be Hiked

The Marin Junior College District Board will be enlarged from five to seven members next spring.

Marin voters yesterday overwhelmingly approved a measure to increase the board by a vote of 47,104 to 15,687.

As proposed, trustees will be elected at large.

The two new members will be probably added to the election slate when three incumbents', Robert E. Rogers, Mrs. Elizabeth M. Deedey and Joseph Garguilo, term of office expires next April.

Rogers, board president, said today a decision adding the seats at the election will be made at the board's meeting next Nov. 17.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Voting Age Retained

DETROIT (UPI)—A proposal to lower the voting age in Michigan from 21 years old to 18 failed by a margin of nearly 2 to 1 in yesterday's election. The voting age question was the only statewide proposal on the ballot and had the support of both political parties. With 1,234 of 5,335 precincts reporting, including 400 in populous Wayne County, the issue was losing 263,278 to 150,194.

Surveyor Still Talks

PASADENA (AP) — Surveyor 1, on the moon five months, again has returned radio signals and transmitted lunar data. Jet Propulsion Laboratory scientists made radio contact with the craft a month ago but received only a weak response. Using the 210-foot-diameter antenna dish at Goldstone, Calif., yesterday, scientists obtained nearly 12 hours of data on temperatures and pressures.

Test Rocket Fired

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE (AP) -- The Air Force launched an ARCAS solid-fuel rocket early today to collect information on atmospheric temperature, pressure and movement above 98,400 feet, a spokesman said. The information will be used in planning glide paths of vehicles entering the atmosphere.

Road Tax Scalped

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Nevada voters decided yesterday to scalp a 102-year-old $3 tax break allowed only to "uncivilized American Indians." Repealed was a $3-a-year tax for public roads which theoretically had been levyed against males from 21 to 60 but never collected. Indians were exempt.

Viet Policy Backed

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — U.S. troops should stay in Viet Nam, Dearborn citizens voted overwhelmingly yesterday. In the first vote in the nation on the Viet Nam war, residents of the Detroit suburb disapproved 20,667 to 14,124 a ballot asking if the voter favored withdrawal.

BURBANK (AP) — Walt Disney, the 65-year-old creator of cartoon characters Mickey Mouse and Donald Duck and founder of Disney Productions, is being treated for a neck injury.

Leisurely Theft

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — A thief slipped into the Montcalm Street fire station while 10 firemen were asleep and stole a jacket, an electric razor and a pair of shoes. He apparently was not in any hurry. He tarried long enough to eat a chicken drumstick he found in the kitchen of the fire station.

Battles Subside; Red Booty Found

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP- — Only light, sporadic ground fighting was reported across Viet Nam today, but American infantry men turned up a rich booty in Communist arms and supplies in Tay Ninh Province, the scene of almost a week of hard fighting near the Cambodian border.

U.S. 1st Division infantrymen combing yesterday's battlefield uncovered a tunnel complex that had been part of a regimental command post. In it they found a "massive array" of supplies and equipment and 95 bodies, while nearby they uncovered a mine factory with 450 claymore-type mines.

In another tunnel complex the men of the "Big Red One" found eight submachine guns, 11 machine pistols, 3,000 hand grenades, 1,000 rifle grenades, and large quantities of ponchos, ammunition pouches and other equipment.

The U.S. military command said 865 enemy have been killed by ground fire and air strikes since Operation Attleboro began in Tay Ninh Sept. 14. Most of the casualties have been recorded in the past six days.

As the ground action slackened, U.S. planes flew 132 multi-plane missions against North Viet Nam yesterday and 481 single-plane sorties in the south, while the Vietnamese air force reported 261 sorties.

The American air attacks included four on targets in the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam. One B-52 strike was reported today, against a Viet Cong staging area in Quang Ngai Province about 350 miles north of Saigon.

In Operation Geronimo, near the coast about 240 miles northeast of Saigon, the 1st Brigade of the 101st Airborne Division reported light contact while sweeping a mountain area northwest of Tuy Hoa.

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — Technicians worked around the clock today to repair the Gemini 12 booster so astronauts James Lovell and Edwin (Buzz) Adrian can make a two-days-late launch try Friday.

The unusually smooth string of launch preparations for the Project Gemini windup mission was shattered yesterday when the astronauts' Titan 2 launcher suddenly developed guidance system troubles.

The delay foiled a historic attempt to have Aldrin photograph a total eclipse of the sun from the unobstructed vantage point of a satellite. It would have been the first time an eclipse had been photographed from above the atmosphere.

Hanoi Boasts U.S. Harbors Anti-War Second Front

TOKYO (UPI)—Communist North Viet Nam boasted today that the second front of the Viet Nam war exists within the United States itself.

The official Hanoi newspaper Nhan Dan said protests against the "war of aggression" are "rising steadily" in America and predicted yesterday's elections would deal a rebuff to President Johnson's attempts to "whip up chauvinistic hysteria."

"The Vietnamese people highly value the protest movement of the American people...," the paper said.

"We admire the valiant acts of the American soldiers who had rather go to prison than fight against the Vietnamese people, and of the American youths who tore up their draft cards and refused to join the army of the Johnson clique."

The paper cited last week's peace demonstration in New York City as evidence that "a new drive of the American people who cherish peace and protest against the aggressive war in Viet Nam is surging in the U.S.A."

It said the "storm of struggle also has shaken 50 other cities."

HOW DO YOU DO IT?

". . . I've checked three drug stores for Dr. XXXXXX and your price is thirty-five cents less than the lowest—almost half the cost of the others."

Your Doctor Is Well Aware Of

LOW PRESCRIPTION PRICES

We mention the above experience for two reasons. One, of course, to again underline the 7 year continuous program of low prescription prices. Two—in case you might think differently—is the responsibility your doctor feels when prescribing for you that goes beyond choosing the correct medication. He IS CONCERNED that you need not pay more than is necessary for your prescription.

The call mentioned above is just one instant of dozens—or hundreds that come direct from doctor's offices about our prices. They also check to see that they write it so that the proper ingredients are used in their less costly form . . . rather than under some trick name available only under a certain manufacturer's label at a higher price. It's the same drug—as we and the doctor know. Goverment regulations insure the quality . . . it's not always necessary to have it in a fancy wrapping.

One of the most rewarding aspects of our program has been the increased queries from doctors and their assistants . . . and the surprise they register when we tell them the price.

We know our prices are hard to believe—so if you have any doubt at all—

City Tennis Courts Favored By Trustees

Fairfax School District Board trustees last night decided they were in favor of allowing the City of Fairfax to locate tennis courts on district property at School Street and Park Road.

They instructed Supt. H. Reginald Hammond to negotiate a contract for the tennis court construction with city officials—but with the proviso that some kind of term be stipulated in case the district needs the site in the future.

A contract for site preparation of the new White Hill School was awarded to O. C. Jones and Sons of Berkeley, low bidder at $18,950, well below the engineers' estimate of $26,000.

Other bidders were: Bobo's Construction Co. of Novato, $22,659; Maggiora and Ghilotti Inc. of Corte Madera, $23,884; Brown-Ely Co. of San Rafael, $23,822, and E. A. Forde Co. of San Anselmo, $25,325.

Work on the site will probably start in two weeks, said Superintendent Hammond.

The Fairfax School District Board also:

1. Adopted a resolution to be sent to the State Division of Highways stating the board's objections to the Central Corridor route of the proposed Highway 17 extension. Trustees said the route chops off one-third of the new White Hill School site.

2. Instructed Dr. Hammond to look into methods of solving the plumbing problem at Manor School, where water pipes are leaking and flooding the ground around the buildings.

3. Set the next meeting for Nov. 29 at 7:45 p.m. at the district office.

Defendant In Burning Case Charges Nasty Behavior

A Tiburon businessman and special deputy sheriff, facing a $125,000 suit for an alleged "sadistic" burning of a co-guest at Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos's Oct. 19 testimonial dinner, today made some charges himself of nasty behavior.

In a cross-complaint to be filed in Marin Superior Court, Barney Norwitt alleges that his accuser, Mrs. Joan Ehrlich, first called him names including "S.O.B.," then assaulted him "by striking and slapping him about the face and ears, and by punching and striking him on th echest and in the groin."

She also struck and slapped Norwitt's wife, Barbara, about the face and head, according to the cross-complaint.

The Norwitts seek $300,000 in general and punitive damages from Mrs. Ehrlich.

On Oct. 31, Mrs. Ehrlich, sister-in-law of San Francisco attorney J. W. Ehrlich, filed the original suit charging that Norwitt burned her with his cigar in a malicious attempt to cripple her.

Guests at the $7.50-per-plate dinner at Bermuda Palms in San Rafael said the dispute started over the seating arrangements. Mrs. Ehrlich is wife of Jake Ehrlich, who operates Blankenship Vending Co. in San Francisco.

W. O. Weissich, San Rafael attorney, represents the Norwitts.

Opening Crab Day, The Worst

The worst first-day catch in history was reported yesterday by crab fishermen in Sausalito.

"We predict no more crabs by the end of the week," said S. J. (Lefty) Sturiale, owner of Sturiale Fish Co. at Marinship. "It just won't pay for the boats to go out by then. They'll just pull in their traps and move north to Fort Bragg and Eureka when the season opens there Dec. 16."

Frank Pomilia of the Josephine brought in 360 pounds, Sturiale said. Last year he had 1,500 pounds the first day of the season. Five years ago, a good first-day catch was 6,000 pounds, he added.

With costs at about $50 a trip, a boat has to bring in at least 500 pounds to break even, Sturiale said.

Crab is selling for 80 to 90 cents a pound retail, he noted, but should fall to 40 to 50 cents after the northern season opens.

Kuchel Wishes Reagan Success

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., congratulated Gov.-Elect Ronald Reagan of California today on his election.

Kuchel said in a telegram to Reagan:

"The people of California have chosen you as governor in as challenging and difficult a period as we have ever faced, but in as encouraging a time for constructive service to the people as has ever been presented. Please accept my congratulations on your victory and my best wishes for a successful state administration."

In another telegram, Kuchel congratulated Lt. Governor-Elect Robert H. Finch.

Goldwater Says 'LBJ Backlash'

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Barry Goldwater today called the Republican victories across the nation the result of "an LBJ backlash."

"It was an LBJ backash that elected Republicans," Goldwater said. "It was a white backlash that benefited Democrats in places like Alabama and Mississippi."

Voters repudiated the "Great Society" in overwhelming numbers, he said.

"The Republican gains resulted partly from a backlash against dishonesty in government, runaway inflation, welfare-state socialism and a no-win policy in Viet Nam," Goldwater said.

Building Cutback Results

By SAMUEL SHARKEY JR.
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — Can you imagine losing 1.88 billion bricks?

How about 920 million pounds of cement, 4.8 million doors, and 400,000 kitchen sinks?

These are just some of the items that will not be used, or produced, because of the drastic cutback in home building, says the AFL-CIO building and construction trades department.

The union group's executive council says the Federal Reserve Board's "tight-money" increase in interest rates last winter is pushing the industry into a depression.

The unions said the "interest spiral" has siphoned off money that normally would have been invested in home-building by major lenders, and put the mortgage interest rate out of reach for hundreds of thousands of potential home-buyers.

Simultaneously, the department of commerce announced residential construction fell 10 per cent in the third quarter of this year — "the steepest quarterly decline on record."

The commerce department warned the situation would continue to grow worse, declaring:

"Housing starts dropped sharply to a seasonably adjusted annual rate of about one million — the lowest figure since 1947 — presaging a further reduction in residential building."

It blamed "a further tightness in credit conditions this summer, evidenced by the highest long-term interest rates since the 1920's."

The AFL-CIO group, composed of 18 major unions representing 3.5 million workers in the building and construction industry, said "if this policy of tight money is allowed to continue, it will surely lead to an unnecessary recession or depression."

The unions demanded immediate administration steps to revamp its monetary policies. They plan to put heavy pressure on the incoming 90th Congress.

The current "chaotic" condition in home-building, the AFL-CIO unions said "means no market for, no shipping of, no manufacturing of and no installation of billions of dollars worth of building materials.

They said this includes 1.92 billion square feet of gypsum board and lath, 40 million square feet of linoleum floor covering, 124 million square feet of tiling, 560 million square feet of insulation, 624,000 water closets, 400,000 kitchen ranges, 506,000 bathtubs, 10 million electric outlets, 4.4 million electric switches and 128,000 garbage disposal units.

Jail Matron Hurt In Inmate Scuffle

A county jail matron, Dorothy Louis, reported today that she suffered a minor left shoulder injury and a bruised right leg in a scuffle with a woman inmate, Mrs. Margo L. Zuber.

Mrs. Zuber, 26, of 1617 Bridgeway, Sausalito, was being transferred to another cell after refusing to be searched, sheriff's officers said. She is charged with felony possession of marijuana and opium and scheduled for arraignment in Marin Municipal Court this afternoon .

Reagan Ousts Brown By Nearly A Million

don't like it either but that's the situation."

Brown, in what he conceded was his "toughest" campaign, lost his attempt to become the first Democrat in history elected to three terms as California governor.

Brown's campaign manager, Don Bradley, blamed "white backlash" for the Democratic loss. Racial strife had rocked the state in the August 1965 Watts riots and again earlier this year in San Francisco and Oakland.

Reagan today announced the appointment of Philip Battaglia as his "chief of staff."

Reagan said Battaglia, 31, would serve as his executive assistant until the inauguration. After then he will function as the governor's executive secretary.

Battaglia, whose home is in La Canada, served as state chairman of the Reagan campaign committee in the election.

Earlier Reagan said his victory was made possible in part by the unification of the GOP in California.

After 23 years as a public office-holder, Governor Brown found himself headed for private life today, destined by California voters to give way in January to a man he once said "doesn't know what he's talking about."

In conceding last night, the 61-year-old Democrat who had defeated two veteran Republican office-holders — William F. Knowland and Richard M. Nixon as candidates for governor in 1958 and 1962—said he bore no animosity toward Reagan.

In the heat of the campaign, Brown had said of Reagan, "he doesn't know what he's talking about. He's just got a smart public relations firm."

With his wife Bernice by his side last night, Brown was given an ovation by his supporters in a ballroom of the Ambassador.

When he told them, "it looks now at this early date like Mr. Reagan has won this campaign," the crowd shouted, "No, No."

The governor went on, "well, I don't like to say it either but that is the situation."

Brown said he would do everything in his power "to see that the new governor is able to keep this state moving ahead. I intend to do everything I can to see that he does. That's about all. It was a great campaign. I never felt down. We have to keep on going. Our principles are right. We may lose a battle but we're going to win the war."

In answer to a question from reporters about the effect of the Negro riots in Watts and the San Francisco Bay Area, Brown said, "they didn't do me any good."

However, when he was asked about the "white backlash" as a factor in the election, he said, "I can't analyze that."

Brown remarked, "Reagan is inheriting the most prosperous state in the country. If he just rides along with the momentum, a year from now he should look real good. The ground work has been laid already."

Reagan, after a jubilant celebration at election night headquarters, had a post-midnight breakfast with aides to discuss filling state offices.

He was joined for a time by Los Angeles' maverick Democratic mayor, Samuel W. Yorty, fresh from a Mexican vacation. Yorty, who lost to Brown in the Democratic primary and endorsed neither candidate, told newsmen:

"Reagan's victory was more of a repudiation of the kind of people Governor Brown surrounded himself with than anything else. They were leeches who fastened themselves on the governor and he let them influence him too much.'

Defeat of the veteran Brown left the California Democratic party without a leader.

It was expected to touch off a fierce power struggle among such Democrats as Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, Los Angeles Mayor Samuel W. Yorty, and State Controller Alan Cranston.

Brown's supporters said that a "white backlash" resentment of Negro violence in Los Angeles, San Francisco and Oakland contributed to the defeat.

Reagan steadfastly denied there was a white backlash. The big issue, he said, was a widespread feeling that "it's time for a change."

in dealing with obscenity."

Proposition A provides for annual sessions of the legislature, allows lawmakers to set their own salaries and modernize the existing Constitution by reducing it from 22,000 to 6,000 words.

The $230 million bond issue, Proposition 2, provides for site acquisition and a building program for state college and University of California campuses.

In addition to Proposition 16, the electorate voted against five other propositions. They were No. 4, indebtedness of local agencies; No. 5, tax relief for disaster victims; No. 7, to allow county officials to set their own salaries; No. 10, loan of public funds to disaster areas and No. 15, eligibility to vote.

The voters favored proposition No. 1, investment of retirement funds; No. 3, the open space amendment; No. 6, an antiveto measure; No. 8, insurance company tax exemption; No. 9, tax exemption for blind veterans; No. 11, legislative control of boxing and wrestling; No. 12, county assessment appeals boards; No. 13, taxpayers statements; No. 14, income tax regulation and No. 15, citizenship eligibility.

said the fact the body was covered means someone tried to hide it, therefore he is treating it as a murder case.

The victim had a fractured larynx, which may mean the man was strangled, Clark said, but the larnyx could have been fractured after the man died as the body was being dragged.

The body has been taken to Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo, for autopsy.

There were no identification papers on the body, but police found copies of a San Francisco newspaper dated Oct. 12 and 13 inside the sleeping bag.

Chief clue to the victim's identity, Clark said, were signs of three surgical operations. He said police are checking hospital records throughout the state.

The man was 30 to 35 years old, about 6 feet tall, and may have weighed up to 200 pounds, Clark said. He had dark hair, possibly dark red. He had a tattoo, commonly known as a "Pachuco mark," a small cross on the inner side of his left arm.

Aside from the fractured larynx, there were no bruises or fractures, Clark said.

No one has been reported missing in Larkspur in the past month, and Clark said he has not yet received any other missing person report that could fit the victim.

Jury Selection Set During Day

Jury selection in a $350,000 malpractice suit against Ross General Hospital and Dr. Samuel T. Anderson and Dr. J. M. Stubblebine, psychiatrists, was to begin today in Marin Superior Court.

The plaintiff, John F. Johnson of 610 Manu Drive, Novato, alleges that negligent diagnosis and improper care resulted in his fall from a second-story window while he was a patient at the hospital Feb. 12, 1963.

He charges the fall crippled him, that he is able to walk or stand only for short periods of time. Trial, before Judge Samuel W. Gardiner, is expected to take 10 days.

Air Freighter Lands Safely

TRAVIS AFB (UPI)—A four-engined turboprop Slick Airways freighter with a crew of four made a safe, wheels down today after circling for more than eight hours because of a damaged landing gear.

The loaded cargo plane took off from San Francisco International Airport Tuesday night on a nonstop flight to Cold Bay, Alaska. Shortly after being airborne, the pilot reported landing gear trouble, and he waited until daylight so an assessment of the damage could be made.

The plane made a low pass over the International Airport at dawn so Slick ground officials could observe the landing gear. The decision then was was made to land at Travis.

BONDS

are going to come out of taxes or a bond issue."

City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer said loss of the sewer bond issue "by an eyelash means the obvious answer is to return again and ask the voters to pass it." He said he would recommend the city council put the issue before voters again next spring.

Without a bond issue, Balmer said, 60-year-old sewer trunk lines will have to be replaced "out of current financing." He noted that the two sewer projects budgeted this year for $45,000 added about 15 cents to the property tax rate. If financed from a bond issue, they would take only about six cents on the tax rate, he said.

As to the public safety building, Balmer said, "We will have to consider the alternatives before coming to any conclusion on it."

Farm Loans Looking Better

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—California farmers will have little difficulty obtaining their usual production loans for 1967 crops despite the tight money situation, a Bank of America official said today.

Robeet E. Zenk, vice president and agricultural authority for the bank, said the bank anticipated no cutbacks in crop loans to its "credit-worthy customers."

Marin Goes Along With The Winners

election in his Marin-Sonoma district.

The 71,358 votes cast in Marin yesterday were second only to the 72,386 ballots cast in the county in the presidential election two years ago. The 80.6 per cent was also slightly below the 84 per cent of two years ago.

In the "off-year" election of 1962, a smaller Marin electorate had a smaller turnout, with 59,262 ballots cast representing 78 per cent of the registered voters.

In another respect, the election here yesterday was largely a repeat of the June primary: the count was late.

Almost-final returns rolled out of the data processing center in the Civic Center at 3:20 a.m. today, about an hour earlier than in the primary.

As in the primary, the count was still not complete because of damaged ballots. This time, there were 900 of them. In June, there were about 2,700.

These are cards rejected by the computer because the holes were not cleanly punched. They must be punched over. As in June, there was no arrangement made for immediately re-punching such cards, so the chore was being done today, holding up the final count until it again may be last or near the last in the state.

County Clerk George H. Gnoss said it was unlikely the damaged cards would affect the result of any race—although in the Bolinas Harbor District, only one vote separated a winner from a loser in the almost-complete count.

While going with the winning candidates, Marin voters also pretty much followed the trend on state propositions. They gave majorities to Propositions 1A (constitutional revision), 1 (investing public retirement funds in common stocks), 2 (state college and university bonds), 3 (open space conservation), 6 (legislative procedure and killing governor's pocket veto), 8 (insurance company taxation), 9 (tax exemption for blind veterans), 11 (boxing and wrestling control), 13 (eliminating property tax statement), 14 (personal income tax revision).

They turned down the "clean amendment," proposition 16, along with propositions 4 (reducing margin required for school bonds), (tax relief to disaster victims), 7 (county supervisors to set own salaries), 10 (loans of public funds), and 15 (removing requirement that a voter must be able to read English).

Only one local measure on the ballot won passage: expansion of the Marin Junior College District Board from five to seven members. Two Mill Valley bond measures failed, along with school bond and state loan proposals in Lagunitas School District.

Marin voters gave all judges up for confirmation comfortable votes of confidence. The biggest went to Judge Richard M. Sims Jr. of the First District Court of Appeals, a Marin resident, who got an 84.58 per cent "yes" vote.

Voters in Marin Municipal Water District's Division 4 stayed with the veteran incumbent, William A. Marcus, giving him a 700-vote edge over Joel F. Gustafson.

In Strawberry Recreation District, Clarence G. Bush, Arthur R. Senter and James L. Andrews won new terms.

In Bolinas Harbor District, John H. Middleton and Thomas J. Barfield were surely elected, and Archie A. Goldsberry had 285 votes to 284 for Louis J. De Ghelder, only incumbent seeking re-election — with the 800 ballots to be re-punched possibly affecting this outcome.

In Terra Linda Recreation and Park District, incumbents were turned out, with Patrick H. Martin and Cecelia E. Martz winning handily.

County Clerk Gnoss blamed the damaged punch-card ballots on styluses snapping. The stylus was redesigned after the June primary, when there was much trouble of this kind; but it still has some faults, Gnoss said.

He said voters would snap styluses but continue trying to punch cards, not realizing they were not making clear holes.

On the whole, Gnoss was pleased with performance of the Votomatic system, which developed fewer "bugs" than in its first try in June.

But there was a human error —as usual.

An error in programming by the data processing department delayed until 10:30 p.m. computation of the 2,882 absentee ballots. They were the first to be counted, but the IBM computer refused to accept them until they were sorted.

"We thought we were programmed to handle the 10 different type ballots involved," said Arleigh R. Sewell, data processing director, "but we weren't."

The absentee votes were finally counted at 10:30 p.m.

As in June, the ballots were late arriving at the Civic Center from polling places, so that Marin was the latest county in the Bay Area to have any results. San Mateo County finished counting before Marin started.

The Lagunitas polling place opened on time yesterday at 7 a.m. Yesterday's Independent-Journal reported incorrectly that the poll there opened late.

Muni, Airport Bonds Dumped In City Vote

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—San Francisco voters yesterday rejected bond issues for airport and municipal railway improvements, expansion of three commissions to include minority group members and increased fringe benefits for city workers.

The final vote count showed 10 of 15 propositions on the ballot were defeated.

Both the $95.5 million airport bond issue and $96.5 million municipal railway bond issue won majorities, but failed to win the necessary two-thirds approval. The airport bond failed by only 2 per cent, while the railway bonds didn't come close.

Utilities Manager James K. Carr said they would be on the ballot again next year.

Voters also rejected, by large margins, propositions which would have added three members to the police, fire and civil service commissions— primarily to make room for minority group representatives.

Propositions were also defeated which would have allowed longer vacations for city employes, let police and firemen transfer their liberal retirement benefits to less hazardous jobs, and given longevity pay and other fringe benefits to police and firemen.

The five propositions approved by the voters will streamline building permit procedures, cut retirement benefits for city officials convicted of crimes and aid needy widows, give probationary employees a second chance, liberalize unpaid leaves of absence for employees, and allow hiring of young attorneys.

The other rejected propositions would have allowed the Municipal Railway to spend more than $130,000 a year for repairs and created a Palace of Fine Arts Commission.

GOP Challenges Demo Majority

COMBINED AP & UPI

LOS ANGELES — Republicans today mounted a major challenge to Democratic majorities in both the Senate and Assembly, even threatening to oust from office powerful Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh.

Unruh, D-Inglewood, who returned to campaign only a week before the election after a lecture tour, trailed Republican contender Leo M. Miller — a man he whipped easily just two years ago.

Unruh's problems reflected Democratic difficulties elsewhere. Election returns showed GOP legislative candidates making strong bids throughout the state, apparently getting a coattails ride from Ronald Reagan's crushing victory to win the governorship.

The color line was broken in the Senate and voters added two more women to the Assembly.

With 13 Assembly races still undecided, Republicans already had boosted their numbers in the lower chamber from 31 to 32. Democrats, with 49 members in the 1966 Assembly, had cinched only 35 seats.

In the Senate, each party had won 16 seats and eight races were yet to be decided. Democrats control the present senate 23-14, with three vacancies.

Assemblyman Mervyn M. Dymally, a Negro, won a comfortable victory in his bid for a Senate seat from the district which includes the Watts section of Los Angeles. Dymally is the first Negro in modern state history to be elected to the Senate.

The Senate hopes of another Negro assemblyman remained in doubt. William Byron Rumford, a Democrat who wrote the controversial open housing law, trailed his Caucasian opponent by 500 votes in the 8th District in Alameda County with more than 7,500 ballots uncounted. Electronic vote counters rejected between 7,500 and 10,000 votes in the county because they were not marked with official marking ink or because they were twisted, torn or otherwise mutilated. Officials said they would attempt to count the votes again Friday.

The new Assembly will have three women members. Attorney Yvonne Brathwaite, a Negro, Los Angeles, and Mrs. March H. Fong, Oakland, both won seats for the first time. Incumbent Pauline Davis, D-Portola, was an easy winner in her re-election bid.

At least three Democratic assemblymen lost their tries for re-election to the lower chamber. They were John C. Williamson, Bakersfield; Gordon H. Winton Jr., Merced, and William F. Stanton, San Jose.

Williamson, chairman of the Assembly Agriculture Committee, was defeated in the Kern County District by Republican William M. Ketchum, a Paso Robles farmer. Williamson was the victim of an apparent white backlash vote in the county.

Winton was defeated by Santa Cruz attorney Frank Murphy in a new district which stretches from San Joaquin Valley to the central coast.

Stanton, a liberal, was unseated in his San Jose district by Republican Earle P. Crandall, a school administrator.

Democratic Assemblyman William E. Dannemeyer, Fullerton, lost his bid for the 35th District Senate seat to James E. Whetmore, a Republican assemblyman.

Democratic S. Fred S. Farr and Alvin C. Weinband lost their seats in races against other senators which resulted from reapportionment. Farr was defeated in the 17th District by Republican Donald L. Grunsky and Weinband was unseated by Republican Robert J. Lagomarsino in the 24th District.

Wreck Claims Orchard Trio

SANTA CLARA (AP) — Three orchard workers were killed today when their car was hit by a Southern Pacific commuter train at a grade crossing at the Bracher ranch in Santa Clara.

The train dragged the wrecked car about a mile.

Killed were the driver, Mohamed Ali Aifagih, 28, and his two passengers, Ali Bin Ali Al Josehoni, 29, and Ali Mohama Al Mardhi, 29, tree pruners.

Execution Date Set For Jacobson

Execution date for Ernest Leroy Jacobson, 36, a San Quentin Prison Death Row prisoner, who has been granted two stays of execution this year, has been set for Dec. 6, Associate Warden H. J. Hastings said today.

Jacobson, convicted for the drowning murder of the 2-year-old daughter of his common-law wife in Los Angeles County in 1964, was scheduled for execution in January and again in August, but was granted stays by the United States Supreme Court.

State's GOP Trims Demos' Congress Lead

COMBINED AP & UPI

LOS ANGELES — Democrats retained control of the California congressional delegation today, but Republicans cut into their margin.

The GOP captured one Democratic seat and was leading in two Southern California districts where returns were slow. Republican victories there would trim the present 24-14 Democratic edge to 21-17. (See table on page 14.)

One major GOP target survived, however. Incumbent James C. Corman, a Democrat, again defeated Canoga Park businessman Robert C. Cline in a re-run of the 1964 22nd District race. Corman scored a narrow victory in the 1964 Democratic sweep for his first term.

Sports hero Bob Mathias, 35, a Republican and a political newcomer, unseated veteran Democratic Rep. Harlan Hagen, 51, of Hanford.

The two-term Olympic decathlon champion amassed a decisive margin over Hagen, an attorney, with only a few small precincts in the San Joaquin Valley's 18th District yet to be counted.

Republican Jerry L. Pettis, a Loma Linda industrial developer, appeared almost certain to unseat Democratic Rep. Ken W. Dyal, San Bernardino, who defeated Pettis two years ago in a close vote.

Dyal's 33rd District in Southern California was one of two major target districts of Republicans. They made a strong effort in Pettis' campaign.

In the 25th District in Southern California, Charles E. Wiggins, mayor of El Monte, held a slim lead over incumbent Democrat Ronald Brooks Cameron, Whittier.

Democratic Rep. John F. Tunney of Riverside ran into a tough time against Republican Robert R. Barry of Rancho Mirage, but Tunney was returned for a second term. Tunney, son of former world heavyweight boxing champion Gene Tunney.

So-called "peace" candidates fared varyingly at the hands of voters as it became evident the Viet Nam conflict didn't play a major role in California, except perhaps in Brown's district.

In the 1st District, war critic Thomas Storer of Marin County was trounced by Repblican Rep. Don H. Clausen. In the 5th vehement war critic Rep. Phillip Burton clobbered his Republican foe. Another Democratic peace advocate LaRue Grim, was soundly defeated.

VOTERS THREATEN 'GREAT SOCIETY'

Republicans' Gain In Congress Mean LBJ No Longer Has Absolute Control

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Republicans came back strong in yesterday's elections, wresting at least seven governorships from the Democrats and winning enough house seats to hamstring President Johnson's Great Society legislative program.

The off-year elections also gave the GOP a greatly expanded array of proven vote-getters who doubtless will play a part as candidates or kingmakers in the 1968 presidential contest.

Among the Republican candidates who won big were Govs. George W. Romney of Michigan, Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and James A. Rhodes of Ohio, Gov.-elect Ronald Reagan of California, and Sens.-elect Charles H. Percy of Illinois, Edward W. Brooke of Massachusetts and Mark Hatfield of Oregon.

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who carried the campaign hod for the GOP, also emerged with revitalized political lustre. (For details of individual races, see inside pages of today's I-J.)

Democrats retained numerical control of both chambers of Congress but with reduced margins that will transfer real control to a conservative coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats.

President Johnson, who received the returns at his Texas ranch, withheld direct comment on the Republican gains. But acting White House press secretary George Christian said:

"He (the President) obviously wishes that every man that he wanted elected had been elected. But on the other hand, the Senate Democratic majority will be in the neighborhood of 64 to 36, which is a pretty good majority in anyone's estimation. And the House majority will be in the neighborhood of 250 to 185."

Nearly complete returns showed that the Republicans had elected 182 House members and were ahead in 5 other races for an indicated total of 187, compared to 140 they held in the last Congress. The Democrats had nailed down 247 seats and led in 1 contest for an indicated total of 248, compared to their previous 295.

This would mean a net gain of 47 House seats for the GOP.

In the Senate, where 35 of the 100 seats were at issue, the GOP won 18 races, the Democrats 17. The new Senate lineup of 64 to 36 represents a gain of 3 seats fort he GOP.

In the 35 gubernatorial races, Republicans won 22 and were leading in two others. Democrats won 11. If the Republicans win the two races in which the outcome still is in doubt, in Alaska and Georgia, they will control a majority of the nation's state houses —26 to 24 —for the first time in many years. Before the balloting, the Democrats had a 33-bulge.

Even more significant, the rebounding Republicans won the governorships of 5 of the 7 largest states, assuring a solid GOP base for the 1968 presidential campaign.

Yorty Greets The Victor

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —Mayor Samuel W. Yorty of Los Angeles, a defeated candidate for governor in the primary, congratulated Gov.-elect Ronald Reagan last night and criticized the Democratic party.

"I thought Reagan would win, I said so at the primary," the mayor said as he arrived at the Biltmore Hotel to offer his good wishes to Reagan.

"I felt that because of the kind of people running the Democratic party in the state that Brown couldn't win a third term . . He surrounded himself with the wrong kind of people," he said.

Yorty, who had endorsed neither candidate, flew home from a vacation in Mexico City a day early. He was defeated by Brown for the Democratic nomination in the June primary.

Democrats Sweep Hawaiian Elections

HONOLULU (UPI) — Gov. John A. Burns today won reelection to cap a Democratic sweep of the three statewide contests in Hawaii.

Burns held off a strong challenge by Republican Randolph A. Crossley as 85 per cent of Hawaii's registered voters turned out at the polls.

In Good Condition

LAS VEGAS (UPI) — Veteran night club entertainer Joe E. Lewis remained in good condition today at Sunrise Hospital where he was being treated for fatigue and diabetes.

Brooke Finds No Backlash In His Race

BOSTON (UPI)—Republican Edward W. Brooke, a Negro, was elected to the U. S. Senate yesterday. The victory, he said, "gave the world the answer that we've been waiting for."

NO BACKLASH

Brooke, who becomes the first Negro senator since Reconstruction, predicted throughout his campaign that there would be no "white backlash." And Massachusetts voters —98 per cent white — made good his word giving Brooke a solid majority over Democratic former Gov. Endicott Peabody.

Showing support from Cape Cod to the Berkshires, the 47-year-old attorney general kept the GOP in control of the seat being vacated by retiring Sen. Leverett Saltonstall. Gov. John A. Volpe, also Republican, was reelected over Democrat Edward J. McCormack, nephew of the House speaker.

'I HAD FAITH'

Brooke called his victory "the supreme moment of my life." The voters, he said, "gave the world the answer that we've been waiting for. I had faith in the answer. The people of Massachusetts judge you on merit and merit alone."

With 67.5 per cent of the vote counted, Brooke had 58 per cent to 41.1 per cent for Peabody. The count gave Brooke 669,506 to 467,268 for Peabody.

Hatfield's Oregon Win Slap At LBJ

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Gov. Mark Hatfield, 44, defeated his Democratic opponent, Rep. Robert Duncan, for the U. S. Senate in a contest that muddied the "clear-cut" test of voter support for President Johnson's Viet Nam policies.

Hatfield, the two-term GOP chief executive, had 314,025 votes to 288,709 for Duncan with 2,601 of the state's 2,905 precincts counted.

National political observers viewed the contest as a referendum for the military effort in Viet Nam. Hatfield campaigned in opposition to the U.S. troop commitment there, instead advocating a stepped-up drive for peace, if necessary with the Viet Cong and Peking.

Duncan, 45, entered the race in support of Johnson, saying "I would rather fight in the elephant grass of Viet Nam than the rye grass of Oregon."

Hatfield will succeed retiring Sen. Maurice Neuberger, D-Ore., joining Democratic Sen. Wayne Morse in Congress. Morse is an even stronger critic of Viet Nam policy, but he stayed out of the contest here after earlier expressing support for Hatfield in preference to the 45-year-old Medford lawyer and fellow party member.

Percy Defeats Douglas For Senator's Seat

COMBINED AP & UPI

CHICAGO—Republican Charles H. Percy smashed veteran incumbent Sen. Paul H. Douglas yesterday to win a key U.S. Senate seat and assume leadership of the Republican party in Illinois.

Douglas was making a bid for his fourth term in the Senate.

Percy, a boy wonder in the industrial world, was beaten two years ago in his bid for governor of Illinois.

In another state election, which held national interest, was the election of Adlai Stevenson III to the state senate in the 36-year-old's first bid for political office.

Marin Youth Booked On Narcotics Probe

A 15-year-old Tamalpais High School student was booked at juvenile hall early today by Mill Valley police for being under the influence of narcotics and possession of narcotics.

The youth was found wandering on Camino Alto near East Blithedale Avenue at 1:30 a.m., police reported.

He told police that he bought the narcotics, tentatively identified as marijuana, at school for $10.

The Marine Corps Reserve is celebrating its fiftieth anniversary.

GOP's Kirk Flays LBJ, Wins Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Investment broker Claude Kirk, crashing boldly across party lines in a year of strange and unpredictable issues, has captured the Forida governor's office for the Republicans for the first time in nearly a century.

The 40-year-old Kirk, backed by big business and industry, sent his favored opponent, Miami's Mayor Robert King High, down to crushing defeat in yesterday's election.

The stunning politial upset developed as party loyalties in this heavily Democratic state were submerged in a wave of public passion over racial rioting, high living costs and war.

They were issues of national concern, with little if any bearing on a governor's race, but Kirk hammered at them relentlessly and turned them to his benefit as voters expressed at the polls their disenchantment with the Johnson administration.

Besides the "white backlash," the war in Viet Nam and the high cost of living, he pounded at recent disclosures that syndicate crime is operating in south Florida.

Kirk, a native Californian who was reared in Illinois and married in Alabama, has lived in Florida only 10 years. He came out of nowhere in 1964 to run for the U.S. Senate but was clobbered by Sen. Spessard Holland, who hardly bothered to campaign.

Tire, Wheel Stolen

Theft of a tire and wheel worth $80 was reported to Mill Valley police yesterday Zsuzsa V. Varosy of 121 Myrtle Avenue. Both were taken from the trunk of her car while it was parked in her carport, she said.

Romney's Win Offers Shot At GOP Presidential Race

DETROIT (AP) — Gov. George Romney shattered the fierce opposition of organized labor, captured a third term by landslide and today stepped impressively into the 1968 Republican presidential sweepstakes.

Romney carried into office with him 43-year-old Sen. Robert P. Griffin, the first Republican senator elected in Michigan in 14 years.

Also sweeping over Democratic opponents were at least four Republicans in districts lost in the Johnson landslide of 1964 and a major portion of the GOP slate.

The 59-year-old Romney, born in Mexico of Morman expatriates, crushed labor - backed Democratic State Chairman Zolton Ferency by more than 444,697 votes, and helped Griffin inflict on former six-term Gov. G. Mennen (Soapy) Williams his first defeat at the polls.

With 4,312 of the state's 5,335 precincts reporting, Romney had 1,243,146 and Ferency 798,449.

Uncovers Bomb

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — William Carter and his sons decided to burn some old wooden crates to get rid of them, as they had been around their Ponderosa Star ranch for 11 years. They decided to open some of the crates before burning. In one of them, they found a 50-inch, 100-pound bomb of World War II vintage.

Marin Man Arrested On Robbery

A 22-year-old San Rafael man was charged today with stealing $14 from a service station at Fifth and Lincoln Avenues after knocking the attendant down with his fists.

Booked at the Marin County Sheriff's office was Andrew Joseph Carrino of 5 Meadow Street, also a service station attendant.

The robbery victim, Allen Corron of 140 Pine Street, San Anselmo, told San Rafael police someone entered the station about 2 a.m. and slugged him to the floor. Corron went to police headquarters to report the incident.

Upon returning to the station, Corron noticed money missing from the register. Carrino was placed under citizen's arrest by Corron after he was seen emerging from a telephone booth near the station.

Women Report Being Dumped

Two San Francisco women told San Rafael police yesterday that a man who was driving them to Florida dropped them in San Rafael and drove off with their belongings.

Gwendolyn Turner and Shirley Thomas said Omar Taylor, 28, of San Francisco left them off Friday on Fourth Street, saying he would return after visiting a friend.

The women called the Red Cross for help yesterday when Taylor did not come back. They said three suitcases—one containing $167—and clothes belonging to them were in the car.

Mrs. Wallace, Agnew Victors

COMBINED AP & UP

Voters in Alabama kept the governorship in the Wallace family yesterday and in the border state of Maryland elected a Republican governor in a "white backlash" victory.

Mrs. Lurlean Wallace overwhelmed Republican Congressman James D. Martin and independent Carl Ray Robinson at the polls.

Spiro T. Agnew's victory in Maryland was judged an upset. His victory dumped Democrat George P. Mahoney, who alienated party liberals by campaigning.

Marcus Retains Water Board Job

William A. Marcus, a member of the Marin Municipal Water District Board for 22 years, was re-elected yesterday in a runoff with Joel F. Gustafson by a vote of 5,349 to 4,661.

Marcus, 76, of Kentfield, a retired banker, won the Division Four post, covering Mill Valley and vicinity.

He led the field in the June primary, but failed to get a majority and was forced into the runoff with Gustafson, 48, of Mill Valley, a professor of biology at San Francisco State College.

Bolinas Harbor Board Incumbent Eased Out

Three newcomers upset the line incumbent, Louis J. DeGhelder, in a race for three seats on the Bolinas Harbor District Board yesterday.

According to unofficial returns DeGhelder was nosed out for the third spot on the board by a single vote.

The tally was John H. Middleton, 330, Thomas J. Barfield, 303, Archie A. Goldsberrg, 285, and DeGhelder, 284.

Directors Clyde W. King and John R. Pepper, whose terms also expire, did not seek re-election.

Leake Easily Defeats Foe In Equalization Contest

LOS ANGELES (AP)— Three of the four incumbents on the all-Democrat State Board of Equalization defeated Republican challengers last night and the other is leading his opponent narrowly.

Victors were George R. Reilly of San Francisco, who beat Paul Bruce Smith of Los Altos for another four years in the First District; John W. Lynch of Fresno, who beat Cyril H. C. Stevenson Jr. of Berkeley in the Second District; and Paul Leake of Woodland, who downed D. R. Hummer in the Third District.

Leading narrowly was Richard Nevins of Pasadena, over Republican Frank J. McCarty of Diamond Bar in the Fourth District. With 5,294 of 17,538 precincts reporting, Nevins led by 574,019 to 560,686.

The vote on the other races:

First District, 3,313 of 3,463 precincts: Reilly, D, 450,674, Smith, R, 320,732; Second District, 4,566 of 5,255 precincts, Lynch, D, 641,298, Stevenson, R, 470,648; Third District, 2,133 of 2,317 precincts: Leake, D, 276,115, Hummer, R, 167,765.

Supervisors Set Route 17 Hearing

Marin County supervisors will hold their first public hearing on the proposed routes for Highway 17 at 8 p.m., Nov. 21 at Olney Hall, College of Marin, Kentfield.

The division's first hearing has been set for 10 a.m. Monday in Rafael Theater, San Rafael, although the supervisors requested it be delayed to await their public hearing.

San Rafael Private, Novato Major Dead In Viet Nam

A young San Rafael paratrooper has been killed in action and an Army major from Novato died of a heart attack in Viet Nam, the Pentagon announced yesterday.

Killed in a battle with the Viet Cong last Thursday near Cu Chi was Army Pfc. James L. Wright, 19 Martens Boulevard, San Rafael.

Maj. Percy L. Campbell, 49, of 19 Santa Maria Drive, Novato, died of a heart attack Sunday while serving near Qui Nhon on the coast of South Viet Nam between Saigon and Da Nang.

Killed in battle

PERCY L. CAMPBELL
Dies in Viet Nam

Wright, assigned to Co. C, Second Battalion, 27th Infantry, went to the war zone May 25, five days after he married the former Linda Jean Burr of San Rafael.

He joined the Army in September, 1965, and underwent basic training at Fort Polk, La. He completed paratrooper training at Fort Benning, Ga., then was assigned to Viet Nam.

Born in Napa, Wright attended Novato and Sonoma high schools. He lived in Marin County the past five years.

Mrs. Wright said she last recevied a letter from her husband Oct. 29.

"He hated the war," she said, "and he was eager to get home."

Added Mrs. James Burr, Mrs. Wright's mother:

"He knew it was his duty to go, but when he got there he said he couldn't stand to see men die."

Other survivors are his parents, Mrs. and Mrs. Lawrence Wright of Sonoma; a brother, Doug; two step-brothers, Dennis Carillo of Napa and Joseph Carillo of San Jose; a sister, Beverly Smith, and grandmother, Maggie Adams of Sonoma.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael. Burial will be in Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno.

Campbell was assigned to Headquarters and Headquarters Co., First Logistics Command, 98th Service and Supply Battalion, and had been in Viet Nam since March 20.

Campbell was a veteran of World War II and the Korean War. He enlisted in the Army in 1944 and fought on Okinaw He left the service in 1946, but re-entered as a second lieutenant in 1950, when the Korean War broke out.

Campbell, a native of Lancaster, Pa., had lived in Novato since April, 1965. He held an Army Commendation Medal with the first and second oak leaf clusters, having earned the honors for peacetime service in Okinawa. Until his assignment to Viet Nam, Campbell served with the 40th Artillery Brigade at the Presidio of San Francisco for two years.

Surviving are his wife, Dorothy; a son, First Lt. James L. of Fort Hood, Tex.; a daughter, Joyce, at home; a sister and three brothers.

Funeral arrangements are pending.

Bear Creek Acreage Up For Sale

The 120-acre Bear Creek subdivision site in Tennessee Valley, for which a master plan for 240 to 257 homes was approved last summer by the county planning commission, has been offered for sale.

Harry Korb, president of R.E.I.D. Co. of Palo Alto, the developer, blamed the tight money market for the sale offer. He said, "Money for development just is not available."

Kork has been in Marin the past few days discussing financing with lending agencies and individual investors. He said he would also welcome offers of participation on a partnership basis with local developers.

The proposed community of cluster-type dwellings is bounded on the south by Marincello, on the west by Tennessee Valley Road and on the east by Marin City. If completed, it would be a $7 million project, Kork said. The 120 acres are being offered for $440,000, said Kork, who worked this out at less than $1,700 a site.

In the meantime, he said, his firm is going ahead with the preliminary engineering "just as if we had money."

A pilot survey is being made to determine the extent to which radioactive substances are being used in the Unite States in medicine and research.

$23 Million Suit— 'Fraud Deceit'

A $23 million damage suit against American Savings and Loan Assn. of California, charging fraud and deceit, was filed in Marin Superior Court today by a Sausalito developer.

Named as co-defendants by Dell M. Malick of 25 Rodeo Road were First Charter Financial Corp., the holding company headquartered in Beverly Hills which owns American, and Mark Taper, First Charter's board chairman.

CONTRACT CHARGE

The suit also charged the savings and loan company, which has assets in excess of $2 billion, with breach of contract and unjust enrichment.

Malick and his partner, Jack H. Bennet of the same address, have been doing business as M and B Investments, but filed notice last week of dissolution of their partnership. They are owners of the Ardilla Apartments in Sausalito and developers of the Lucas Valley Crossroads shopping center at Highway 101 and Lucas Valley Road.

Malick's complaint charges that officials of American Savings offered Malick the Fagundes ranch west of Highway 101 and south of Lucas Valley Road, provided Malick assumed all loans on four other pieces of property in Marin and paid American $50,000 down and $6,738 a month for four and a half months.

Malick accused the company of knowing at the time that the Fagundes ranch would be tied up in bankruptcy proceedings of another San Rafael firm, Kaehler-Farrar Co., to whom American had previously given an option on the ranch.

Malick said that after escrow was closed and the property transferred, American ordered him to pay Erickson Construction Co. $159,000 for alleged expenses to American during the holding period of the option.

Malick first refused, he said, but then paid on the promise of American that he would be reimbursed.

Malick also said American had promised to provide financing of development of the ranch and the other properties, but subsequently reneged.

ONE OF FOUR

In his suit, he said that when he sought a $100,000 loan for development of the Racquet Club No. 4 parcel in San Rafael — one of the four on which he had assumed all loans—American refused unless granted encumbrances totalling $2.4 million on three other pieces.

Malick accused American of putting him in a position of financial distress and then harassing him and damaging his reputation and credit.

He asks $2,950,000 in actual damages and $20 million in punitive damages.

State Agency Turns Down Bond For Land

Marin's application for state bond funds to aid in acquisition of Manzanita Green at Waldo Point and Paganini Point in East San Rafael does not qualify, according to Hugo Fisher, administrator of the state resources agency.

Fisher wrote county supervisors that state bond funds cannot be allocated to parks less than 50 acres. He said application for state funds for Deer Park, Bolinas Lagoon Shoreline purchase, and Stafford Lake "appear eligible."

Roadside Slaughter Of Hereford Reported

The roadside slaughter and butchering of a $200 Hereford cow two miles north of Muir Beach on Shoreline Highway was reported today by sheriff's deputies.

Officers said the cow, owned by James J. Sousa, Muir Beach rancher, had been shot in the head. Two hind quarters of meat had been removed.

Supermarket Offers Cash Discounts

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A supermarket chain today offered Sacramento area housewives a choice between trading stamps or a 1½ per cent cash discount on food purchases.

The offer was made by Holiday Stores, which operates three markets in Sacramento. Its president, Lester T. Foster, said the discount is one-quarter of 1 per cent more than the stamps cost his firm.

Foster said the company's management thought the public wanted trading stamps.

"Now we are giving them a choice," Foster said.

Meanwhile, a Sacramento housewives group known as Shoppers Against Deception planned a Thursday evening organizational meeting to map an attack against high food prices. The group wants to negotiate with the Northern California Grocers Association.

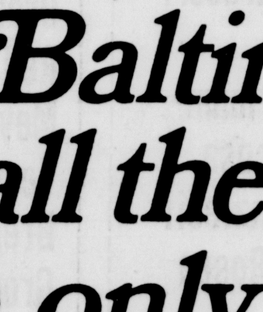
Why does United have 3 classes of service to New York, Washington and Baltimore when all the others have only two?

"I give up."



Like other airlines, United offers you a choice: First Class or Coach.

But we felt if we were going to give people a choice, why not a real choice.

So we created a new class of service.

We call it United's White or Standard Class. And it's part of our Red, White and Blue Service.

United's WHITE is a kind of "Mister In-Between." It combines the best of both worlds. With many first-class features and a fare that's only $5.56 more than Coach fare. You can live it up and still save a lot. Sit in wide, comfortable seats. Enjoy a delicious three-course meal, and your choice of complimentary beverages. All for only $5.56 more than Coach.

Or you can still choose from the old reliables:

RED, the finest service in the air. Gourmet meals enjoyed in the comfort of wide jet armchairs.

BLUE, the finest Coach service in the air—and easy on your pocketbook. (There's no lower jet fare anywhere.)

Whichever class you choose—Red, White, or Blue—you get full exposure to United's Extra Care. Fine food, beverages, a separate wide-screen movie for each class. Welcome to the friendly skies.

fly the friendly skies of United.

Author Kesey Pleads Innocent

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Novelist Ken Kesey pleaded innocent today to possession of marijuana on a San Francisco rooftop last Jan. 19.

He and a 19-year-old girl, Carolyn Adams, were arrested on the Telegraph Hill rooftop by police who said Kesey threw a bag allegedly containing marijuana away. The girl was placed on probation.

Kesey fled to Mexico, only to be arrested by the FBI when he eturned here last month. He had become a fugitive while on appeal bail from a marijuana conviction in San Mateo County. He must appear at Redwood City Nov. 18 for a bail hearing in that case.

In the San Francisco case, Superior Judge Francis J. McCarty set his jury trial for Nov. 30.

Terra Linda Rec Directors Ousted

Voters in the Terra Linda Recreation and Parks District ousted two incumbents yesterday, including Director Jack Brandon, who has been on the board since the district was formed six years ago.

Elected were Patrick H. Martin, 37, of 647 Wakerobin Lane, with 827 votes, and Mrs. Cecilia Martz, 40, of 274 Oleander Drive with 623.

Incumbent Daniel C. Beittel, of 675 Barberry Lane received 586 votes, and Brandon, of 649 Bamboo Terrace, polled 468.

Martin, the top vote getter, is also a director of Terra Linda Community Services District. He is a chemist with Sun Petroleum Corp. in South San Francisco.

Mrs. Martz was a lieutenant in the Air Force assigned to personnel and administration.

During the campaign, the challengers, Martin and Mrs. Martz, charged that the board had spent too much on recreation programs and not enough on maintenance and development.

Treated For Bruises

Richard Bert Norris, 32, of Fairfield was treated at Marin General Hospital yesterday after his car ran off Shoreline Highway into a ditch. Norris suffered multiple bruises. He told California Highway Patrol he had been looking at Bolinas Bay when his car went off the road.

Story Hour Saturday

Stories and singing games for children four years and older will be offered at 11 a.m. Saturday at Mill Valley Library by Mrs. Dale Starkey. A resident of Mill Valley, she has performed for children on television throughout the country.

Erhard Finally Will Step Down

BONN, Germany (AP) — West German politicians weighed the chances today of four candidates to head their government after Chancellor Ludwig Erhard finally agreed to step aside.

Stung by a sharp parliamentary setback, Erhard said last night he would support any one of these four nominated by leaders of his Christian Democratic party:

Rainier Banzel, the party's leader in the Bundestag, the lower house; Eugen Gerstenmaier, Bundestag president; Kurt Georg Baden-Wuerttemberg, and Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder.

Christian Democrats in Parliament scheduled a meeting today, but were not expected to take up the leadership issue until tomorrow. They may make a choice tomorrow or Friday, but there was also a possibility the decision might be put off until after the state election in Bavaria Nov. 20.

Because the Christian Democrats do not have a majority in the Bundestag, the party's choice will also have to get the support of the Free Democrats or the Socialists to supplant Erhard.

Erhard, 69, agreed to head a three-member commission to negotiate with the other two parties.

Erhard's coalition government fell apart Oct. 27 when the Free Democrats refused to go along with increased taxes to meet West Germany's obligation to buy U.S. arms to offset the cost of keeping U.S. troops in Germany.

Erhard's decision to step aside was announced yesterday a few hours after Free Democrats and Socialists pushed a resolution through the Bundestag urging Erhard to ask for a vote of confidence — a vote he seemed sure to lose. Erhard refused but said he would not stand in the way of anyone who could form a majority in the Bundestag.

Judge Studies Eye Surgery

Judge Leonard A. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court disclosed yesterday that he may undergo surgery to remove his right eye.

He said a recent examination Hospital in San Francisco showed the eye has a detached retina, with a probable tumor growth.

The surgery would be at Marin General Hospital next week. Judge Thomas termed it an uncomplicated operation and said he should resume his judgeship duties after a few days.

MODOC STILL BELLWETHER

ALTURAS (UPI) — Modoc County, which has been a bellwether in California elections since 1916, kept its record intact yesterday by voting in favor of Gov.-elect Ronald Reagan.

For the past 50 years, Modoc County has always voted for the winner of races for president, governor and U.S. senator.

Lunar Orbiter In Good Shape

PASADENA (AP)—A second midcourse maneuver will not be necessary if the photographic craft Lunar Orbiter 2 continues on its present course toward the moon, scientists say.

Analysis of the 850-pound Orbiter's trajectory after a rocket blast to change course yesterday indicated the vehicle is on target to a point 607 miles above the moon.

There, another rocket blast—this time to slow the craft—will send Orbiter into a path around the moon. The craft is designed to take pictures of 13 possible astronaut landing sites.

Bakersfield Voters Reject Sharing Poverty War Costs

BAKERSFIELD (UPI)— Bakersfield voters, apparently motivated by the "white backlash" and opposition to higher taxes, expressed their overwhelming opposition yesterday to participation by their city in the federal government's War on Poverty.

A controversial proposition, submitted by the city council as a referendum, asked whether the oil and agriculture rich city of 150,000 should provide its required 10 per cent share of the cost of community action programs. The programs, authorized under Title II of the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964, are considered to be the backbone of the war on poverty.

With about 80 per cent of the vote counted, the totals were 6,326 for continued participation and 14,723 against.

Observers considered the vote to be a test of the influence of the "white backlash" because the city's Lakeview District, home of most of Bakersfield's 7,000 negroes, was the scene of four days of racial violence last May.

A second influential factor in the vote was a continuing controversy over the county's anti-poverty programs which led to the resignation in September of a Bakersfield city councilman from the board of directors of the county anti-poverty agency.

Russians Play Despite Strike

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A union musicians' strike has failed to halt a concert in the Music Center by the Moscow Chamber Symphony.

Two last-minute developments prevented the Moscow musicians from confronting Los Angeles musicians protesting after the Southern California Symphony-Hollywood Bowl Association cancelled the current Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra season.

Just before the concert last night, impresario Sol Hurok changed the concert contract so the appearance would be under his auspices rather than the association's, thus removing the Moscow Chamber Symphony concert as an object of protest.

Then union pickets arrived at 7:45 p.m., just after the Russian musicians had entered the building.

There were 22,560 suicides in theh U.S. last year, making the over-all national suicide rate about 11.6 per 100,000 population.

The Marin Coast Chamber of Commerce's meeting, scheduled for last night, was postponed because of elections to Nov. 22, when Dr. Leslie Webber will discuss progress on annexing the Point Reyes Station-Inverness-Olema-Inverness Park area to the North Marin Water District.

Meeting Postponed

Meeting of the Inverness Public Utilities District, scheduled for last night, was postponed to 7:30 p.m. today in the Inverness firehouse because of the election, according to secretary Mrs. Richard M. Cantwell.

What To Send Viet Nam Servicemen

Because of the climate and other conditions in Viet Nam, there are certain items which servicemen need and want, and other items which should not be sent. Also, the size of the package is important. Smaller packages reach their destination sooner. Too, a package weighing less than 5 pounds and 60 inches or less in length and girth can be sent airmail for surface rates.

WHAT NOT TO SEND:

Postal regulations forbid sending tobacco in any form. Clothing is not recommended because of the poor laundering facilities in Viet Nam.

WHAT TO SEND:

1. Tiny record players, transistor radios, cameras, and television sets.

2. Checkers, chess, puzzles, playing cards, games, pocket books and magazines.

3. Presweetened powdered drinks and instant tea because of the bad taste of the Vietnamese water.

4. Small useful items such as stationery, self-sealing envelopes, ball point pens, razor blades, toothbrushes and toothpaste, hand and shaving lotion, nail clippers, foot powder, sewing kits, combs and brushes, kleenex, plastic utility bags, cigarette cases, and insect repellents in plastic containers.

5. Canned goods sent in tins, such as salami, cheeses, nuts, sardines, and peanut butter.

6. The most coveted gift is home-baked goods. Cookies, if made with the right ingredients and packaged correctly, make a particularly nice package. Soft or bar cookies are best because the crisp, crunchy ones invariably crumble before reaching their destination. One service wife suggests adding 2 or 3 extra tablespoons of flour to the recipe to keep them from crumbling. To prevent the cookies from spoiling, not too much butter should be used, and nuts should be used only in the batter.

Packaging is also important to prevent spoilage. Two or three cookies should be wrapped together in aluminum foil and placed in metal containers such as a coffee can, or in a sturdy cardboard box or a half-gallon milk carton. The way they are placed in the container is also important. The cookies can be cushioned with layers of unsalted popcorn, puffed cereal, or plastic materials placed on the bottom, sides, and in between the layers to absorb the bumps and jolts.

MAILING:

Items should be wrapped in plastic whenever possible. The package should be securely tied and addressed carefully with full name, address, and APO or FPO zip code number. Food should be sent air mail; otherwise, it will take a month or more to arrive.

Rosy-Lemon Chops Reminiscent Of The Exotic Pacific Islands

For eating better than ever, there's nothing like golden brown, tender, perfectly seasoned pork chops! Pork has always been a favorite family meat, but recently it's found a new image. Young moderns have discovered that its milk flavor combines well with scores of exotic and "in" foods the young hostess enjoys preparing.

Have you noticed how lean pork chops and loins are now? These extra lean pork cuts have fewer calories per serving than pork cuts 10 years ago, a point weight-watchers will appreciate.

Rosy-Lemon Pork Chops are reminiscent of many of the pork dishes from the sun-drenched islands of the Pacific. Just brown and cook with a bit of honey, lemon and catsup.

ROSY-LEMON PORK CHOPS

6 rib pork chops, ¾ to 1 inch think
1 tablespoon shortening
1 teaspoon salt
12 thin lemon slices
2-3 cup catsup
1-3 cup honey
1 tablespoon water
1 teaspoon cornstarch

Brown pork chops in shortening in heavy fry pan over moderate heat, turning as needed to brown evenly. Drain off excess drippings. Sprinkle chops with salt and place 2 lemon slices on each chop. Combine catsup and honey and pour over chops. Cover pan and cook slowly until chops are fork-tender, about 1 hour. Remove chops from sauce. Blend water and cornstarch together; stir into sauce. Cook, stirring constantly until sauce thickens. Serve with chops, or over rice. Yield; 4 to 6 servings.

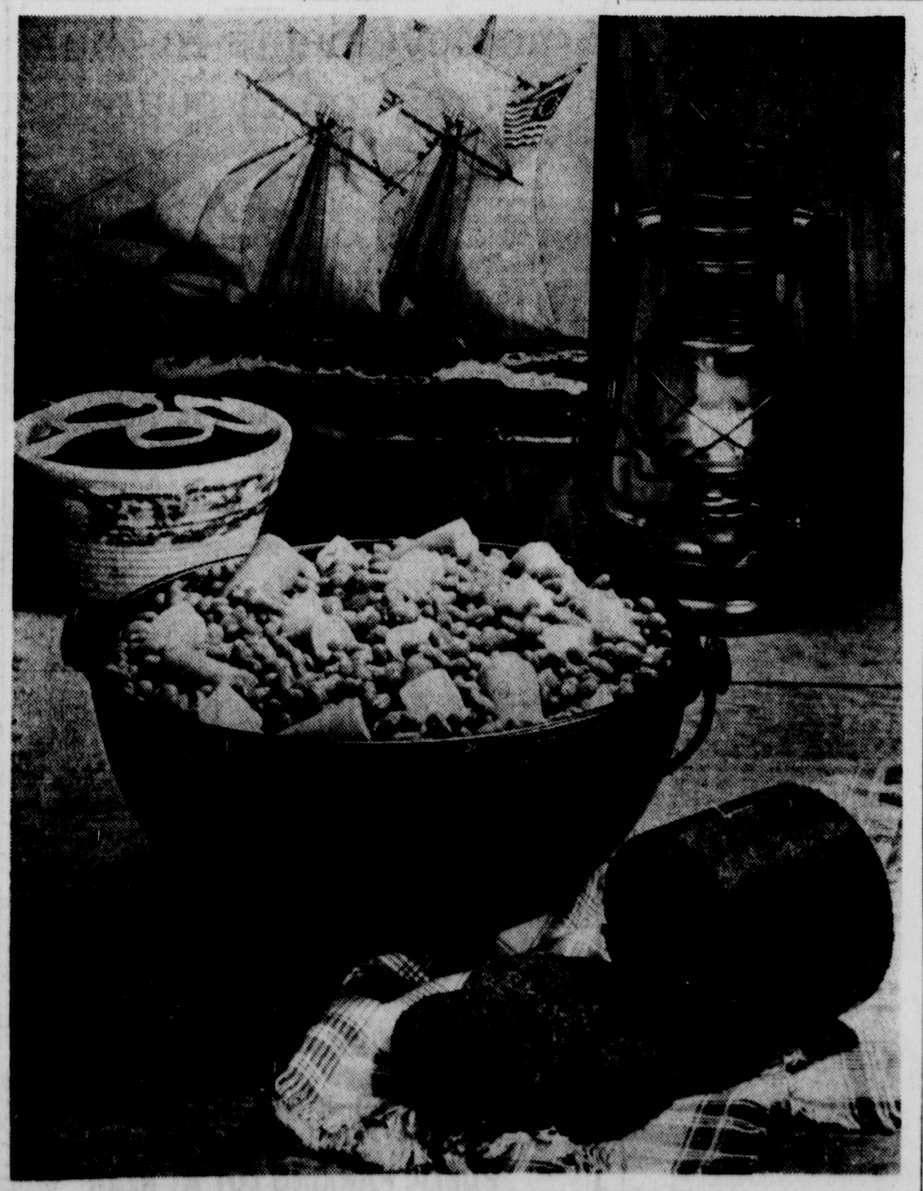
Re-discover The Goodness Of Old-Fashioned Baked Beans

Homemade baked beans, like homemade bread, are a dish that brings memories of childhood, recalling the fragrance of brown sugar and molasses, mustard and salt pork, all blended together with tender beans, bubbling for hours in the oven and filling the kitchen with an aroma that made you feel you just couldn't wait for supper. And finally, when the bean pot was brought to the table, all crusty around the top where the juice had bubbled up, what a treat it was to see your plate being filled with richly browned baked beans, bread, and crisp and crunchy cole slaw.

OLD-FASHIONED BAKED BEANS

1 quart pea beans
½ pound salt pork (streaked with lean)
1 tablespoon sugar
¾ cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon mustard
2 teaspoons salt
boiling water

Wash and pick over beans. Soak overnight in cold water to cover. In the morning drain; cover with fresh water and simmer for 1 to 1½ hours, or until the skins wrinkle. Turn into beanpot. Add sugar, brown sugar, mustard, and salt. Score the pork and press it down into the beans. The rind should be uppermost and projecting ¼ inch above the beans. Pour on boiling water to cover. Cover and bake in a slow oven (250 degrees F.) about 7 hours. During the baking add boiling water so that the beans are covered with water. Uncover during last half hour to brown. Serves 8.



OLD-FASHIONED BAKED Beans are a modern day version of the brick-oven baked beans and brown bread Boston sea captains came home to.

Laxalt Beats Sawyer For Nevada Governor

RENO, Nev. (UPI)—Republican Paul Laxalt, son of an immigrant basque sheepherder, swept to an easy win over incumbent Grant Sawyer yesterday in the race for governor of Nevada.

Laxalt, 44, had been the lieutenant governor under Sawyer, who was seeking to become the first Democrat ever to win a third term in Nevada.

A hot issue in their race occurred when Sawyer accused the Federal Bureau of Investigation of tactics which "reminded me of Nazism" in investigating alleged "skimming" of profits by gamblers.

Laxalt apologized to FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover for the statement and charged that Sawyer was "soft on crime."

No Surgery This Week For LBJ

President Johnson will not undergo surgery this week, the White House announced today, and no date or site has yet been decided upon.

Johnson had spoken hopefully of being operated on either Friday or next Tuesday at Brooke Army Medical Center here. But no date was mentioned in today's announcement.

Assistant press secretary George Christian said the President still was conferring with his doctors before a final decision is made on the operations to remove a polyp from Johnson's throat and to repair a hernia in the incision from his gall bladder operation of a year ago.

There was no indication when a decision would be reached or announced.

The Great Seal of the United States is placed on about 3,000 formal documents annually.

Surprise Testimony In Sheppard Trial

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)—In surprise bombshell testimony, a medical technician testified today that Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard's wrist watch was hit by "flying drops—blood in motion."

Testifying as the state's climax witness in the Sheppard murder trial, Mary E. Cowan, a blood specialist for 27 years in the coroner's office, showed color photographs on a screen to the jury of "spatter-type stains" of blood on the watch and its band.

Dr. Sheppard, now 42, is accused of beating his wife to death with 25 savage blows in the pre-dawn hours of July 4, 1954.

A detective testified in this second Sheppard trial that Dr. Sheppard had told him shortly after the murder that the blood on his watch was deposited there as he tried to take his wife's pulse at the neck after she had been beaten. The body was found covered with blood, particularly about the head.

Miss Cowan, chief medical technician in charge of physical evidence at the coroner's office, testified at length as a state witness in the 1954 trial.

Rum originally was called Barbados Brandy or Kill-Devil.

Booking Made In City Slaying

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Police booked a 26-year-old longshoreman on suspicion of murder today in the slaying of Wayne Baschelder last Sunday night.

Baschelder, 27, was found dying in a street behind City Hall.

Bernard Porter was arrested after officer Edward McMills spotted Porter's car, which he said answered the description and license plate numbers of a car seen leaving the Baschelder slaying scene.

FASHION GREATS

The Imaginative Trigere—

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP) — France has its fashion legend, the venerable indomitable Coco Chanel.

And America—thanks to the French — has its own legend, zestful, volatile, ubiquitous, imaginative and nevertheless quite individual Pauline Trigere.

"I would like to live as long as she does, and the way she does," Pauline once said of Chanel whom she met up with in Dallas once for all of 15 minutes.

Considering that Pauline is a diet-conscious, well-disciplined woman who stands on her head regularly "to bathe the brain," and shares a masseuse with Adele Simpson, she has a good chance of old age.

AS FOR LIVING and working like Chanel, the 52-year-old designer already does that. Both are difficult to work with because they are perfectionists. Both will take a suit apart 60 times until an armhole is exactly right.

Both enjoy fine foods, beautiful flowers, elegant surroundings, exciting parties and interesting people. Both have strong views and impatience with stupidity that edges into their voices.

But this is strictly a story about Pauline, not Chanel.

AS A CHILD IN PARIS, Pauline wanted to be an actress, an idea that did not please her highly respectable Jewish family. She wanted to be a surgeon too, but her father did not want her playing around with other people's bodies. "So I cut up dresses instead," she says.

At 17 she designed her own bridal gown and married Lazar Radley, a Russian emigree, her first beau. The couple came to New York in 1937 on the way to Chile. But Pauline decided to stay, sending Radley off alone.

With her tall, unruffled older brother Robert and three sewing machines, the imaginative designer began to drape, pin, and stitch up dresses that were to win for her a cult among the world's most tastefully dressed.

Her elder son, Jean Pierre Radley, 34, an engineering graduate, is now a part of the firm. Another son, Phillippe, 31, teaches Russian at Amherst, Pauline is Ph. D.

There is still another man in her life, Julio Wertheim. The handsome sophisticated Argentine cattleman has been a good friend and companion for more than a dozen years.

Most all years are good design years for the Pauline Trigere house. Her sketches are in her head, and her idea file is endless.

EVERY COLLECTION has such specific innovations as a dress-over-a-dress or coats without sleeves. Or reversibles. It inevitably contains new versions of the difficult-to-execute bias dress and the cape, both of which are Trigere trademarks.

Every collection is a declaration of independence, very often audaciously independent of tacks taken by other designers either on Seventh Avenue or in Paris.

"The trouble with fashion is that it lacks adventurousness," says Pauline. At the same time she believes change must have a purposeful evolvement and not be merely for the sake of obsolescence. One of the joys of a Trigere dress is that it seldom reveals its age.

THE FASHION adventures of Pauline have won her the Coty Fashion award three times. She is the first living woman to be named to the hall of fame.

The husky voiced lady in tinted glasses who collects turtles, live ones and turtle shapes, as well as diamonds and porthault linens, did not receive any special commendation for this. But it was conceded among buyers and fashion magazines that Pauline's spring collection was among the best of the year, either in Paris or here.

Two years ago Pauline said she did not understand why more women designers are not crawling out of their shells. "It could be she doesn't have the courage to go on her own."

This year she is pleased to see that so many are at last grasping for the sun she has basked in for so long.

PAULINE TRIGERE, a turtle pin on her dress, seldom has time to sit around like this.

The Spinsters Welcome New Members From Marin Area

By MOLLY MARIN

Several Marin girls are among the list of new members of The Spinsters announced today and who were greeted Monday evening at a dessert meeting in San Francisco at the home of the George Ottos, whose daughter Susan is vice president. The new Spinsters include Joan Dinkelspiel, daughter of the Richard Dinkelspiels of Kentfield; Ann Griffith, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Griffith of Ross; Sandy Neubarth, who is the daughter of Judge and Mrs. Harry Neubarth of Kentfield; Candyce Onstott of Gridley, who attended Katharine Branson and made her debut at the Marin Debutante Ball; Amy Robbins of who also attended Branson School and College of Marin, and also Pam Beaumont, daughter of the Laurence K. Beaumonts of San Rafael. All are graduates of the Branson School except Pam, who attended Piedmont High School, and are attending college or are busy with careers.

THE REV. and Mrs. Frank L. Raney of Novato returned on Saturday from a two months tour of Europe. The trip was a gift from their sons, Dr. Frank Raney of Mill Valley and Dr. Gus Raney of Belvedere, in celebrations of their parents' 20th anniversary. They flew to New York where they embarked on the Queen Mary for Southampton. They traveled the Continent by bus visiting in Holland, West Germany, Switzerland, Italy, France and Scotland and in North Ireland, where Mrs. Raney's parents were born.

TWO PARTIES in Sausalito Saturday night will be a farewell dinner for the Edward Hawleys and a large cocktail party hosted by the Frank Perry Greenes.

Planning the progressive dinner party for the Hawleys, who will be moving to Sonoma soon, are the Perry Brocks, Alan Connerses, Arnold Seymours and Mrs. Hawley's sister, Miss Edith Mewhirter. The courses will be served in apartments of the Connerses, Seymours and Miss Mewhirter, which are all in the same apartment house at 90 Harrison.

The Greenes — she is the former Barbro Margarethe Swedenborg whom Frank married in Stockholm last August —are entertaining 70 guests from all over the Bay Area at a cocktail party that will be in a Mexican theme. They will serve the Spanish drink sangria and Mexican hors d'oeuvres.

Sausalito Club To Present Restaurateur In Program

World famed San Francisco restaurateur George M. Mardikian, author and food consultant, will present a new program in a return engagement at the Sausalito Woman's Club on Nov. 16 at 2:30 p.m.

"Food for Thought" is the title of this fund-raising program, which will be entirely different from the one he presented at the club in 1959.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Computer Would Flip Its Bolts As Family Life Gets Kookier–

DEAR HELEN:

My wife calls family life a democracy, our kids call it a monarchy, my mother-in-law thinks it's despotism, but sometimes I figure it's pure "idiotocracy."

Take the matter of money. Around here they borrow from Peter to pay Paula who has to have "coins" for Jean's birthday present; but meanwhile Peter goes broke, so gets an advance on his allowance, which comes out of the grocery money that will be paid back next week when whoever-it-was returns the money he borrowed from, lessee, who was it? Things like that.

The financial transactions that go on around here every school morning would make a computer flip its bolts.

Then there is the case of the new bicycle. Four months ago our daughter was a little girl whose bike was aces. Then she started junior high and there it sits in the garage — "for little kids." But all is not lost. My wife rides in the "housewives hips-away" club every morning.

I came home the other night to find my wife learning the twist or some such from our eight-year-old, while Paula was trying to read while balancing on her head.

I could go on for a whole page, but you get the point. "Idiotocracy" is a good description of family life, right?

And why do I like it that way? — HAPPY IDIOT

DEAR HAPPY:

Why not? Is there any better way to live happily ever after? —H.

PERSONAL TO "HURT": Console yourself with this thought: Some people wear high hats to accommodate their pointed heads. Who needs her? —H.

DEAR HELEN:

I had a nervous breakdown after our baby was born and had to spend seven months in a state hospital. Before that our marriage of three years was perfect, almost.

While I was away, my husband moved in with another woman. He said he was lonely. When I came home, he said he felt too guilty to live with me though he still loved me. Then he moved away, stopped sending support, and eight months later I located him — living with another woman. Again, he swore he loved me and our son, but couldn't afford to come home. His new non-wife was expecting a baby.

It's been almost four years. He calls me frequently, says he wants us back, but has only visited me once. Then he told me he was home for keeps, but had to return for his clothes and valuables. He went back to his other family and that's the last I've seen of him.

He sends no support though he's making good wages. I suggest a divorce and he begs me to wait a little longer.

I met a wonderful man here who loves me and my son, but I believe in my marriage vows. Without a divorce I will not look at another man. And I can't afford to see a lawyer. I know my husband wouldn't pay him.

How much longer must I WAIT? — TIRED

DEAR TIRED:

You've waited much too long already. Legal Aid Society fees are low. Call the number listed in the phone book (or ask the Welfare Agency to contact the Society for you) and you will get the advice you need. —H.

Fire Protection Study Is Due

A contract offer to Upper Lucas Valley residents for fire protection should be ready in about two weeks, according to J. Dale Nystrom, chairman of the Marinwood Fire Commission.

Residents of Upper Lucas Valley have asked for the study on cost of service from the Marin-Wood Community Services District. Nystrom and Donald A. Duerr of the CSD board have been appointed to study costs and prepare an offer.

Nystrom said a contract for services seems the best method, annexation raising too many complications.

The commission last night also recommended to the CSD board that the district buy a semi-automatic hose drying cabinet, costing about $1,000.

Prize Films To Be Shown

Two films from India, "Two Eyes and 12 Hands" and "The Dancing Ranee," will be shown Tuesday at the Rafael Theater, San Rafael, by the Marin Motion Picture and Television Council.

Peninsula Teen-Age Dance Talk Tonight

Belvedere Parks and Recreation Commission did not meet last night because of the election. The meeting was postponed until next Tuesday at 8 p.m. at Community Hall.

Southeast Asia Seen As Oriental Balkans

Southeast Asia was described last night by a seasoned observer as "the Balkans of Asia," an area unlikely to achieve regional stability because of the seething hatreds among its several small nations.

China's bid for dominance, however, was seen as handicapped by her share of the ancient hatred of these same feuding nations. The United States, on the other hand, was regarded as the one to which they could look for a unifying force.

These were some of the observations of Kenneth Armstrong, combat correspondent for the Cleveland Plain Dealer, and a veteran of five tours of reporting in Southeast Asia since 1960. He spoke at College of Marin's Olney Hall.

Armstrong made the point that the fighting is not confined to Viet Nam, though thatis the largest and most well publicized area of conflict.

"Laos," Armstrong said, "has one of the most bloody, gruesome wars being fought today. The death rate is running at 7 per cent of the forces." The war there, he said, has been taken over by the North Vietnamese, who have committed up to 35,000 men, replacing the Pathet Lao Communist forces, "which have collapsed."

American air strikes, Armstrong said, are all that have contained this threat, and "the Laotians are grateful for the American help."

Another growing combat area, he said, is in northeast Thailand. A similar situation would exist in Cambodia, he said, if the Cambodians were willing or able to stand against the Communists.

He attributed the lack of coverage of these related conflicts to the fact that newsmen "go where the copy is" and today that is where the most American troops are. "In a sense," he said, "the newspapers thus create their own kind of censorship."

To help Americans at home understand the casualty reports in Viet Nam, Armstrong reported that "light casualties" means about 20 per cent of a unit were wounded, "moderate" means up to 50 per cent wounded, and "heavy" means over 50 per cent.

He said that while no censorship exists, "the military has a little semantical game it plays." If a company is heavily hit, he said, the military "lumps it into the battalion and says the battalion was lightly hit."

Of the United States' allies in the war, Armstrong's highest praise went to the 35,000 South Koreans fighting there. "They are the finest troops in Viet Nam," he said. "They're tigers. When they move into an area, the Viet Cong moves out. It wants nothing to do with them."

The Australians, Armstrong said, have "not been as effective as expected." They are a 3,500-man brigade, principally draftees, and they are being cautiously handled by commanders aware of political repercussions back home if they get hurt, Armstrong said.

American morale and determination he reported as high.

Armstrong showed color films of U.S. troops combing the treacherously beautiful countryside from the air and slogging through swamps and jungle.

Artist Society To Present Show

A "Christmas Boutique" of small works of art by many of its 750 members will be presented by the Marin Society of Artists Dec. 3 through Jan. 2 at the Francis Young Gallery in Ross.

The exhibition and sale will get under way with a preview party for the public at 8 p.m., Dec. 2 at the gallery.

In addition to the miniature sale of painting, drawing and sculpture, craftsmen members of the society will offer a large selection of pots, weaving, mosaics and other craft items at the gallery on Dec 3 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Dec. 4 from noon to 5 p.m.

Counterfeiters Busy In Yemen

SANAA, Yemen (AP)—Counterfeit U. S. dollars have appeared in Yemen for the first time, and authorities are powerless to take countermeasures because there is no law in this country to punish counterfeiters.

Fake 10 and 20-dollar notes were recently discovered on the financial market by the Yemen Bank for Reconstruction and Development.

The American Embassy here tried to pinpoint the source of the fake bills but was unable to do so. Samples of the counterfeit dollars were sent to Washington for examination.

Officials said it was almost certain the bills came from outside this remote country and had not been printed here.

Courthouse Park Idea Put Forth

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

The possibility of zoning the courthouse square for park and recreation use was raised last night by the San Rafael Planning Commission.

The commission continued for one month its hearing on zoning the square for limited commercial use under a plan that would have underground parking and would limit building coverage to approximately 30 per cent of the area. But before it did so, some commissioners expressed doubt whether such zoning should be adopted.

YEARS AND YEARS

Commissioner Jorgen V. Lunding expressed fear that the old courthouse and its annex might remain on the property, unusable, "for years and years."

"It might be another situation like the old Coleman School," commented chairman Fred E. Robbins Jr. Lunding agreed.

At one point, Commissioner Daniel L. Connell appeared ready to offer a motion to introduce park-recreation zoning for the square, but he held off as Commissioner Thomas R. O'Toole urged that the commission take no action until the city council "decides what it wants to do about the parking."

The remarks indicating disillusionment with the proposal for restricted commercial development came both before and after Fred F. Enemark and Irving Chapman, members of a committee on the courthouse square's future appointed by the county board of supervisors, pleaded for approval of the limited commercial rezoning.

The proposed new limited commercial zone, tailored specifically for the courthouse property, is based largely on a plan for use of the square prepared for the city by consultant Daniel P. Coleman.

The trouble with the plan is financial. The county hopes to realize $940,000 from sale of the property—a figure arrived at by Enemark's committee. As Enemark admitted in his presentation, this plus cost of improvements and underground parking would make a commercial project "not economic for any developer."

The solution to the financial dilemma proposed by Stone and Youngberg, financial consultants, is for the underground parking to be publicly financed, perhaps with a revenue bond issue. The board of supervisors has proposed that the city do the financing.

Enemark told his commission, "I don't think we have the time or the ability to pass a bond issue from San Rafael alone to acquire this property as a park, although I would like nothing better than to have a park there."

MORE HAZARDOUS

Lunding, however, felt a city bond issue to finance underground parking would be more hazardous. If no developer appeared, he and Robbins pointed out, the city might be faced with paying $130,000 a year to retire the bonds, which it would have to extract from its taxpayers.

Lunding suggested that, if commercial development is to be allowed, the parking might be financed one-fourth by the city, one-fourth by the county, and half from a federal grant.

"It will be very difficult to find a developer who will pay about $2 million for about 30,000 square feet that he can use," he predicted.

Chapman, fearful the commission was about to institute park-recreation zoning, said this would be "unthinkable" to most downtown business people. He said commercial development "is a very necessary thing." An open park on the square, he declared, "would impose a blight on a good portion of downtown San Rafael."

WAVES COPY

City and county studies both indicate commercial development is preferable, said Chapman. Urging the commissioners to study the Stone and Youngberg report, he suggested that "all of you are not completely advised on the situation."

When he finished, Lunding waved a copy of the report while retorting, "I think we are reasonably well informed." The Stone and Youngberg report, he suggested, might be titled, "How To Make a Million and Skin the Town."

At insistence of Commissioner Pat Hetherton, the chairman instructed Asst. City Planner Charles J. Linthicum to make sure the city council knows the reason for continuing the hearing a month is to await its decision regarding the underground parking.

New Planner Is Off On Right Foot

San Rafael's new city planner got off on the right foot last night.

Herbert G. Hochner, who took over the post only last Thursday, said not a word until near the end of the first San Rafael Planning Commission he attended, letting Charles J. Linthicum, who had been acting planner for over a year, do the talking. But at conclusion of the meeting, he asked the commissioners to let him know their ideas of what should come from the planning department.

Commissioners complimented Linthicum on the work he has done during his long "acting" tenure, to which Hotchner responded:

"This is the first opportunity I've had in 15 years in the planning field to walk in where a functioning staff is doing something that's worthy of appreciation . . .

"One of the handicaps I've noted with some of the fellows who come out of schools nowadays is that they're a few miles up in the air."

"I'm glad you said that," declared Commissioner Carl S. Brown.

"You're off on the right foot," said Commissioner Thomas R. O'Toole.

Hotchner then informed the commission: "My reason for coming here is that my wife and I want to live in San Rafael. Anything I do, I'm going to do with the idea of being here to see the results."

Planners Don't Want County's Foot In Door

The Marin County Planning Department had best not count heavily on the City of San Rafael's participation in a proposed county-wide zoning ordinance.

That was indicated by remarks of San Rafael's planning commissioners last night when Asst. City Planner Charles J. Linthicum reported receipt of a county proposal for a joint study of zoning ordinances with the aim of making them uniform.

Linthicum said the county expected only three hours a month of the time of one of the city planning staff. Though nothing might come of the effort, he said, it appeared worth trying.

Commissioner Carl S. Brown, however, declared the scheme was an effort by the county planning department to get "a foot in the door" for an application for a federal "701" planning grant. Other commissioners agreed.

The city's new planner, Herbert G. Hotchner, then made his very first recommendation to the commission: for delay to investigate the county proposal further.

The commission agreed, Chairman Fred C. Robbins Jr. told Hotchner to investigate "what the county's up to" and "bring it up when you're ready."

"And when you do, expect a battle," put in Commissioner Thomas R. O'Toole.

The San Rafael Planning Commission Also:

1. Put over to Nov. 22 consideration of the final map on five lots of an eight-lot subdivision by Harry Kirsner on Spring Grove Avenue, when it became evident Kirsner did not understand the reason for city insistence that sewer and water lines for the entire subdivision be installed before acceptance of part of it.

2. Postponed indefinitely, at the applicant's request, Dr. Joel R. Levine's tentative map for a four-lot subdivision on Villa Avenue north of Lillian Lane. City Engineer Ely Caillouette said the map submitted was inadequate.

3. Granted R. V. Phillips of the Assembly of God Church a use permit for a church at 77 Clark Street, despite objection of Commissioner O'Toole, who felt a public hearing should be held first. Rev. Phillips said the lot had been willed to the church, which planned to tear down an old house on it and build a chapel.

4. Granted Samuel W. Gardiner permission to fill a 150-by-300 foot area on Francisco Boulevard East, with proviso the fill must all be of earth with no "junk."

5. Granted D. and W. Auto Parts a three-year extension of a permit for an auto wrecking yard at 77 Hoag Avenue.

6. Granted Eugene Friend architectural approval for a Factory Mutual Insurance Co. building at 650 Las Gallinas Avenue.

7. Granted Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. architectural approval for an addition and alterations to its longlines building at 220 Shaver Street.

8. Set for Nov. 22 hearing on Edward McDonnell's application to rezone 177 Woodland Avenue from single-family residence to multiple family with 3,000 square feet of lot per unit.

Commissioner John A. Miskimen was absent.

Contractor Agrees To Fix Damage Of Red Hill Slide

Dennis C. Holtzinger told Tiburon Sanitary District directors Monday night, that his construction company would be responsible only to repair the damage it caused in the Red Hill slide.

Holtzinger Brothers of Corte Madera had taken some dirt from the hill just before the huge slide. Holtzinger said he had been on one of the bulldozers. "We can't just dig into the slide," he said. "We will need permission from the county."

Holtzinger promised to bring proposal to the board's Dec. 5 meeting for repairing the damage for which his company accepts responsibility.

Directors adopted a resolution for purchase of an adjacent one-eighth of an acre of land from the Northwestern Pacific Railroad Co. for $15,000 through condemnation proceedings.

Plant Supt. John B. McFarlane reported three septic tanks in the district are in violation of the sanitary code, and an open sewer on Paradise Drive that empties into the bay. McFarlane said he reported the sewer to the Marin County health department.

Members heard that Angelo P. Mirata has refused to withdraw his resignation from the board. In the absence of board president Fred Mantegani, the four members tabled until the next meeting a vote to appoint a replacement for Mirata.

An ordinance was amended to increase the amount of checks that the president and secretary can sign from $250 to $400.

Four Forgery Charges Filed

Maurice Joseph O'Connor, 30, was booked in county jail yesterday on a felony complaint, charging four forgery counts.

Arraignment in Marin Municipal Court was scheduled for this afternoon. O'Connor, currently serving state prison time at Sierra Conservation Center, Jamestown, Tuolumne County, allegedly forged four checks totaling over $100 in July with intent to defraud J. C. Penney Co. and Montgomery Ward and Co., both of Corte Madera. He was returned from Jamestown by sherrif's officers.

Firsts Scored By Negroes In State, Local Elections

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Negroes scored notable firsts yesterday in winning election to state and local offices around the nation —but the returns produced no pattern of political "black power."

The biggest win came in Massachusetts where State Atty. Gen. Edward W. Brooke, a Republican, became the first of his race to be elected to the Senate in 86 years and the first ever elected by popular vote. Senators were elected by state legislatures until 1913.

In addition, all six Negro Democratic Congressmen won re-election, including the man who claimed he invented the term "black power" — flamboyant Adam Clayton Powell, D-N. Y.

LUCIUS D. AMERSON
New Alabama sheriff

Brooke said he was weary of hearing himself called "the first Negro-this or the highest-Negro-that." As Massachusetts Attorney General he holds the highest state office of any Negro in the nation.

Korean war veteran Lucius D. Amerson defeated two white opponents by a 2-1 margin in Alabama's Macon County to become the first Negro sheriff in the state since Reconstruction.

But in Michigan, Negro Republican George Washington lost his bid for Secretary of State, despite a GOP landslide that defeated civil rights champion G. Mennen Williams, a former governor seeking election to the U. S. Senate.

Also in Michigan, Negro Democratic Reps. Charles Diggs Jr. and John Conyers won re-election by defeating Negro opponents in predominantely Negro districts.

The other incumbent Negro congressmen who won Tuesday were Augustus F. Hawkins in California, Robert N. C. Nix in Pennsylvania, William L. Dawson in Illinois, and Powell.

Negro Republicans did not fare well in their election bids for the House of Representatives. Among five Negroes seeking election against white opponents was Stephen Maxwell. He lost, but his candidacy was significant in marking the first time a Negro ran for a post higher than local office in Minnesota.

The Negro Freedom Democratic Party in Mississippi lost in its challenge to unseat Sen. James O. Eastland, and Reps. Thomas Abernethy and John Bell Williams, all Democrats.

Selma Sheriff Loses His Bid

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — Wilson Baker, a veteran law enforcement officer who disagreed with the mass arrest of Negroes in Selma during the Civil Rights struggle in 1965, has finally won his race for sheriff.

Baker defeated the present sheriff, James G. Clark, in yesterday's election despite a write-in campaign which brought Clark thousands of votes. Returns from the county's 81 boxes gave Baker 7,249 votes and Clark 6,742.

The former Selma City safety director who took issue publicly with Clark's mass arrest policy had won the Democratic nomination for sheriff last May after a federal judge intervened.

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky produced its three billionth ton of coal during January. Harlan County in the eastern mountains produced about one-sixth of this total.

Republican Landslide Gets Idaho Statehouse Control

BOISE, Idaho (UPI) — Sen. Len Jordan led a Republican landslide yesterday that captured 11 major offices in Idaho — including governor — and retained GOP control of the legislature.

Jordan, 67, a former governor seeking his first full term in the Senate, beat Ralph Harding, 37, a former Democratic congresman by more than 22,000 votes.

U.S. Rep. George V. Hansen, 35, overwhelmed A. W. (Bill) Brunt, 56, a former Democratic chairman to win his second term from Idaho's second congressional district.

State Sen. James A. McClure, 41, defeated two-term incumbent Compton White Jr., 45, by a smaller margin to become the first Republican to serve the first district in 14 years.

But the big surprise of the election was state Sen. Don Samuelson's solid defeat of three opponents for governor. He grabbed 42 per cent of the vote in comparison to 37 by State Sen. Cecil Andrus, 35, the Democratic contender. Two independents split the remainder.

Driver Treated

Jose Torres Campos, 37, of 404 San Francisco Boulevard, San Anselmo, suffered a bruised chest yesterday when his auto hit the rear of a car driven by Austin Dimitriff, 47, of Burlingame, which had stopped in front of him on the Highway 101 overpass on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard at 8:15 a.m., according to California Highway Patrol. Campos was treated at Marin General Hospital.

Robinson—1st MVP Of Both Leagues

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Frank Robinson of the Baltimore Orioles, the American League's newly-crowned Most Valuable Player, said today the National League has more stars because it has more Negro players.

"I don't think there's that much difference in the leagues," Robinson said. "The superiority the National League is supposed to have is exaggerated. But there are more frontline outstanding players in the National League than the American League.

"There are more Negroes in the National League and therefore more outstanding ones," he went on. "That's not all of it. But that definitely has something to do with it."

Robinson's frank appraisal came after he had been unanimously voted the MVP award, becoming the first player in baseball history to win the coveted award in both leagues and the second Negro in American League annals.

Elston Howard of the New York Yankees became the first Negro to win it in the American League in 1963. In the National League, which broke the color line when Jackie Robinson joined the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1947, eight Negroes have won the award 12 times in the last 19 years.

Robinson joined such other Negro stars as Willie Mays, Hank Aaron and Roy Campanella in winning the National League award when he was with Cincinnati in 1961.

"The first one usually is the biggest thrill," Robinson said. "But this award is even bigger than the first one because I've become the first to do it in both leagues. That's something that will be remembered."

The other things to be remembered are:

—Robinson led a 1-2-3 Baltimore sweep in the balloting by the Baseball Writers Association of America, drawing all 20 first-place votes for 280 points to 153 for third baseman Brooks Robinson and 122 for first baseman Boog Powell.

—Robinson became the first unanimous winner in a decade, just as he became the first Triple Crown winner in 10 years, and only the third unanimous winner in the 35-year history of the voting.

—The 1-2-3 sweep was the first in the American League since 1959 when Nellie Fox, Luis Aparicio and Early Wynn of the Chicago White Sox grabbed the top three spots.

Acquired from Cincinnati in December, Robinson led the league in all three major hitting departments with a .316 average, 49 homers and 122 runs batted in.

It was the first time that had been done since Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees did it in 1956. Mantle won the MVP award unanimously that year as did Al Rosen of Cleveland in 1953.

Following the Baltimore triumverate in the voting — on a basis of 14 points for a first-place, nine for second, eight for third, down to one point for 10th — were three members of the Minnesota Twins.

Third baseman Harmon Killebrew took the No. 4 spot with 96 votes, followed by pitcher Jim Kaat with 84 and outfielder Tony Oliva with 78. However, shortstop Zoilo Versalles of the Twins, last year's MVP winner, did not receive any votes.

Rounding ou the top 10 were outfielder Al Kaline of Detroit, 66 points; outfielder Tom Agee of Chicago, 63; Aparicio of Baltimore, 51, and shortstop Bert Campaneris of Kansas City, 36.

Two other Orioles also received votes, reliever Stu Miller getting 25 for 11th place and catcher Andy Etchebarren receiving seven for 17th place.

Robinson, in winning without dissent, also achieved what he missed in 1961 with the Reds

ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL

By JIM GILMARTIN
I-J Sports Editor

Trojan Tooters Best In Marin, Even When Viewed From Behind

THE CHAMPS—Terra Linda High School's varsity football team may win only 33⅓ per cent of the Marin Athletic League championship, but good old Eichler 'igh's varsity marching band already is recognized throughout the county as undisputed champ in its field.

Directed by Gordon Lowe, Marin's answer to John Philip Sousa, the Troy Tooters cymbalize all that is fine in high school music departments. Numbering 100 strong, plus a squad of approximately 16 majorettes, plus the tallest drum major and the shortest majorette in the league, this is truly a magnificent aggregation. Throughout the season they have wowed crowds with their imaginative and intricate field maneuvers and simply great music. Everyone is in step and on key.

LAST SATURDAY night at Kentfield Lowe's Terra Linda band was at its finest before a near capacity crowd of 5,600 spectators, especially when it paid tribute to the Independent-Journal sports department for its comprehensive coverage of the local high school football scene this year. Thus, it seems only fitting that I return the compliment here. An aye for an aye, a toot for a toot.

I HOPE the school photography department took movies of the band and will send them to the I-J sports department so we can see the warm tribute to us.

You see, it's a sad story: The band faced the Terra Linda section, but the I-J reporters and photographers were on the Tam sidelines at the request of Terra Linda Director of Athletics Bill O'Bayley. "It's friendlier over there," he suggested just before the game.

Anyway, as seen from the front or the rear, Terra Linda's band wins our vote as the very best.

POOR MARIN CATHOLIC, winless in Marin Athletic League varsity football since 1961, faces the disheartening prospect of closing its season Friday afternoon against the hottest team in the league—Drake.

After losing to Tam in the league opener, the Drake Pirates have bowled over Novato, San Rafael, Terra Linda and Redwood with an awesome display of balanced power.

The Buc backs have been piling up the points and that defensive line has been virtually impenetrable in the last three games, during which the opposition has rushed for a total of only 51 yards. San Rafael gained 13 yards on the ground, Terra Linda 37 and Redwood 1.

Marin Catholic had better warm up its passing game.

ANOTHER INTERESTING statistic out of Drake: Halfback Tom Mauer has carried the ball 86 times in league play, but has been stopped for a loss only once, for two yards, by Terra Linda. There is one boy who is always pointed in the right direction.

Mauer should win the MAL rushing title with ease.

MANY THANKS to James S. Todt, president of the John Brodie Fan Club, for mentioning me on his KGO radio interview yesterday. Todt said I was the originator of his exclusive (five members) club back in 1957.

I've begged him not to blame me for the whole thing, but he keeps insisting. Over KGO, yet! If he ever gets on the Ed Sullivan Show I'll just d-i-e-e.

THEY'RE READY TO DEFEND TITLE

Frank "Jake" Wosser (center) of Tiburon gets together with crewmen Roy Ashley (left) and Joe Cronin before they and Jim Davies depart for Hamilton Harbor, Bermuda, where they will defend their World International One Design Class title. The four-day race series will begin next Monday. Sailors from France, Norway and the United States will be making the trip to Bermuda for the races. (Independent-Journal photo)

Tars Will Trek To Redding Saturday

"We played well and we were lucky."

That's the way College of Marin football coach Dick Read described the Tars' hair-raising 14-12 win over luckless and winless Napa last week.

"It could have been bad," he said. "If they had gotten another score in the first half or capitalized on that opportunity in the third quarter we could have been in real trouble."

The victory put the Tars in third place in the Golden Valley Conference with a showdown against league co-leader Shasta coming up Saturday night at Redding.

Shasta downed Yuba, 38-22, for a 3-0 mark, and is tied with Sierra, a 20-14 victor over Santa Rosa.

Santa Rosa and Napa share the bottom of the pit and it's a tossup who is more unfortunate. The Sierra win came on a 96-yard scoring pass with 24 seconds left after Santa Rosa led 14-13.

Read praised the running of Tars Dick Otis, and Horace White.

"Otis is coming around," he said. "I think he's getting used to our style of play after running in an I formation at Novato."

"Napa had some fine runners," he said. "They killed us on that reverse, but luckily they were able to score only twice. That touchdown run of Willie Williams was amazing."

Read lauded the defensive work of Bob Edlestein, who recovered a key fumble, Chuck Hahn and Rick Gifford.

Read also cited the offensive line work of Gifford, Hahn and Bob Washington.

"We'll probably have secret practices, this week," Read said. "We may try to practice under wet conditions. I understand it may rain up there."

Kimbrough Expected To Play Sunday

San Francisco 49er defensive back Elbert Kimbrough apparently will be ready for Sunday's game at Chicago after all.

He hurt his shoulder last Sunday in the win over Los Angeles and if he misses the Chicago game, the prospectors will have only four defensive backs available and will have to start two subs at the safety spots.

Coach Jack Christiansen's club stopped rushing leader Dick Bass cold last Sunday and hopes to contain the Bears' great Gale Sayers the same way Sunday.

Sayers tied an NFL record by scoring six times against San Francisco in their last meeting and last Sunday carried for 124 yards from scrimmage against Detroit.

DRAKE, TERRA LINDA, TAM FAVORED TO WIN

Drake, Tamalpais and Terra Linda are all favored to end the season in a three-way tie for first place in the Marin Athletic League in their games this week.

Tamalpais is an all but unanimous pick to dump late-charging San Rafael in their battle at San Rafael tomorrow at 8 p.m. Terra Linda, fresh from a 28-7 upset of Tam, is an overwhelming favorite to dump defending champion Novato at San Rafael Friday at 8 p.m.

The Drake Pirates, who appear to have the inside track, are unanimous choices to keep Marin Catholic winless at College of Marin Friday afternoon at 1.

In other games, it's a little tougher. Redwood plays out its season at Granada Friday and it's rated a tossup. So is College of Marin's Golden Valley showdown at Shasta Saturday night. Menlo is a slight favorite to top San Rafael Military Academy Saturday in their little big game.

Tam and Terra Linda are the best possibilities for upsets, if they should occur. San Rafael may be able to match the Indians pass for pass, while Novato's defense has been steadily stiffening. In addition, the Hornets have a sound running attack, and there's this thing about being defending champs that may bring forth an extra effort.

These selections and six others will appear in tomorrow's picks by the I-J Prognosticators.

Seals Open New Arena Tonight

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

The California Seals open play in their beautiful new $30 million Oakland home tonight when they host San Diego in a Western Hockey League battle.

Although some minor furbishings are missing, arena officials promise the stadium is ready for the 8,000-12,000 fans expected to show up.

The Seals were scheduled to work out yesterday on their new ice but it wasn't ready, so they won't have much home advantage tonight.

Victoria is at Los Angeles tonight where the Blades are hot with a 4-1-1 record in their last half-dozen outings. Big difference has been newcomer Dick Meissner, who has piled up 10 points during the streak.

Vancouver took Seattle 5-2 in last night's only action. Bryan Hextall had two goals to lead the way and Birt Selby, newly-acquired from Toronto, tallied for the winners, too.

Larry Popein and Ron Boehn added Vancouver goals and Bob Lemieux and Bill Dineen scored for Seattle.

Canada Cup Golfing Show Gets Underway In Tokyo

TOKYO (AP) — International golf's greatest show, the Canada Cup, got underway with the defending champion team of Gary Player and Harold Henning of South Africa issuing this challenge:

"We are playing well and hope to win the Cup for South Africa for the second straight year."

The pair didn't say as much, but the challenge was aimed at the powerful United States team of Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer, which won the Cup in France in 1963 and again in 1964 in Hawaii.

Thirty-six teams from 34 nations, plus Hawaii and Puerto Rico, were entered with the first teams teeing off at 9 a.m., Thursday Tokyo time, which is 4 p.m. today, PST.

The setting for the 72-hole tournament, which ends Sunday, is the hilly Yomiuri Country Club, just outside Tokyo, where par is 36-36-72. Its length is 6,962 yards.

The weather has been cool and ideal. Rain could cause a problem because in the valley-like areas, drainage is poor.

Disappointment Abounds In U.S. Tennis Circles

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — Was U.S. Davis Cup Capt. George MacCall outfoxed by the Brazilians?

Did MacCall pull the year's prize boner in playing 19-year-old Cliff Richey of Dallas Tex., in the singles instead of the more mature Arthur Ashe?

Are American tennis players a bunch of high strung, spoiled cry babies who need a good spanking?

Is there any hope for U.S. amateur tennis, or is it going to sink lower in the doldrums?

These were some of the questions being bandied around today by tennis observers, shocked and disappointed at the American team's 3-2 loss to Brazil over the weekend in the Inter-Zone semifinals at Porto Alegre, Brazil.

"I can't second guess MacCall at this distance," said Harcourt Woods, the chairman of the U.S. Davis Cup Committee ."Martin Tressel (president of the USLTA) was in Brazil with George. They must have conferred. They must have had some reason for the action.

"I have always been worried about Richey's history for getting leg cramps."

Richey, an intense youngster, has repeatedly turned up with leg cramps in major matches. There was some surprise when he was picked for the singles over second-ranked Ashe — just as Frank Froehling was chosen over Ashe at Barcelona a year ago when the Americans lost to Spain.

One former Davis Cup captain of another era, who didn't wish to be identified, said he felt sure the Brazilians pulled a fast one on the Americans and encouraged them to use Richey over Ashe.

"I think they purposely didn't try too hard in the tournament at Buenos Aires (won handily by Richey," he said. "That way they could get Richey into the line-up in place of Ashe, whom they feared."

Vic Seixas, former Davis Cup captain and a member of five U.S. Davis Cup teams, said he believed Richey got cramps because he worried too much before big matches.

"He has to learn to relax," Seixas said. "Otherwise, he'll always develop cramps."

Seixas was disinclined to attach too much blame to the captain and the players who lost at Porto Alegre.

"We have so many players of about equal ability," Vic said. "There's no one dominant player so any one is likely to beat any other. That's what happened here — plus the fact that the Brazilians had a big advantage of playing at home on their familiar clay surface."

Dennis Ralston, who lost the critical fifth match to little-known Edison Mandarino, is a grass and hard court player. Mandarino is a specialist on clay. But the Brazilians had choice of site and surface.

One critic, a former player, said the United States made a mistake in picking a captain, such as MacCall, without international experience.

"George is a great guy," the critic said, "but he hasn't played big time or Davis Cup tennis. This would never have happened under a guy like Bill Talbert." Talbert was fired in 1958 after five years as captain.

Talbert himself, now a Wall Street banknote executive, declined to get into the controversy.

"I can only say one thing — and I've been telling the tennis officials this for years," he said. "We must crack down on our young players. They've become a bunch of temperamental cry babies, and it's our fault.

"We should start disciplining them when they're 12 and 14 years old. Let one of them throw a racket and that's it. There's no reason our boys can't act like the Australians."

Chuck McKinley, a Davis Cup veteran now a New York bond executive, refused to fault MacCall for picking Richey, saying: "Cliff apparently was playing well. He beat Ralston and Koch and beat Ralston in the national clay court. He had more experience than Ashe on clay.

"It's too bad, and I'm disappointed. We seem to come up with a lot of good young players. We just don't develop them the way Australia does."

Interview With Clay Winds Up In Orbit

The trouble with interviewing the former Cassius Marcellus Clay, the eminent theologian, the White Man's Burden, the Emir of Babble-onia, the long-playing mouth spray, the nomad from the trackless wastes of Kentucky, is you have to keep hitting yourself on the right side of the head to be sure you're hearing right.

The conversation begins sensibly enough ("Howzit it, Champ, how's the old one-two?") but pretty soon it's orbiting frantically around the upper reaches of Alice in Wonderland or alighting a time or two somewhere over the rainbow of sanity.

TO BEGIN with, Cassius is no ordinary man. Ordinary men change their names from time to time, but, usually, in the interests of brevity, or of staying out of jail, or of getting something that will fit a marquee, or something that a friend can pronounce over the long distance phone without having the operator interrupt in the middle with "Your three minutes are up, signal when through."

A PUGILIST named Joseph Paul Zukauskas settled for "Jack Sharkey," for example. Anthony Zaleski become "Tony Zale." Cassius Clay moved toward the mold of the fight manager, Harry Kabakoff who went to court to change his name and when the judge said "To what?" he answered "To Melville Himmelfarb." A pitcher named Pete Jablonowski wanted to help the linotype operators once and changed it to "Pete Appleton" in honor of his hometown. It wasn't much help to the composing room, which was just happy he didn't live in Magnitogorsk or International Falls.

CLAY WENT clear to the burning sands East of Suez for his name change, passing right by such easier solutions as "K.O. Brown," or "Panama Jack Smith," or "One Round Cohen," or "Canvas Clancy." "Muhammad Ali" is not a monIker you pick up pointing a hat pin at the Yellow Pages.

NEITHER IS his theology. Over the years, I have been meaning to compile—under the heading "Things I Never Knew 'Til Now"—such gems of revelation that Cassius has passed on to me as (1) the fact that "trillions of years ago," the original Black Muslim put the moon and sun into orbit, I guess with the darndest rubber band you ever did see; and (2) while he was at it, he put the stars up, too.

Of course, while we're all very grateful for this, we are entitled to wonder why one of his direct descendents cannot even qualify for the Air Corps.

BUT ENOUGH of this carping at trifles. On Monday, Nov. 14, in the terrestrial city of Houston, which has come to capitalize on the solar energy so thoughtfully provided by Cassius' ancestor, Cassius fights Cleveland "The Big Cat" Williams, who is a direct descendant of Hiawatha, in a bout that will doubtless come to be known as a "Cat and Mouth" game.

I FOUND Cassius in Louisville the other day where, I guess, he has a phone in his tent, or maybe one in his camel. As usual, the sense quickly deteriorated:

ME: "Hello, Cassius, how's the old . . . ?"

CASSIUS (muttering): "Ali, Muhammad Ali."

ME: "Ah, yes. We seem to have a bad connection, Cassius, I can't hear you too clearly . . . "

CASSIUS: "I say, ALI! MUHAMMAD ALI! How's come you always call me by my slave name?"

ME: "Well, you can call me by my slave name, Cassius. JIM."

CASSIUS: "That's your slavemaster name. You were slave masters."

ME: (startled): Well! That would have been news to my grandfather, Cash. The part of Ireland he came from, they would have thought Uncle Tom's Cabin was the high rent district. The only slave they had around the house was called 'Ma.' "

CASSIUS: "Johnny Carson, HE call me 'Muhammad' Huntley-Brinkley, HE call me 'Muhammad.' "

ME: "Maybe they don't know your real name, Cassius. Remember, I knew you BEFORE these guys—BEFORE you were going to fight poor Alejandro Lavorante, to use his slave name."

CASSIUS (resentful): "Well, I got to go now."

I hung up. Just then, I heard one of the kids calling me by my slave name. "Hey, Dad!" he said. "Can I have a dollar?" "Yes, Massa," I replied.

Buc Jayvees Aid Tam Title Drive

By ROB HARVEY

Sir Francis Drake High's junior varsity football team snapped Redwood's string of five straight victories last weekend, and in so doing, helped pave the way for Tamalpais' Indians in the mythical J. V. league.

The final count was Drake 12 and the visiting Redwood junior Giants zero. Tam, meanwhile, fought its way to a 19-14 win over Terra Linda, increasing its "league" mark to 4-1.

Redwood is also 4-1 in "league" play, but has no loop games remaining because of a mix-up in scheduling with San Rafael before the start of the season. Now Redwood may have to take a back seat to Tam if the Indians win their season's finale.

The omission of a Redwood-San Rafael match resulted from a belated decision as to whether San Rafael was going to field a J.V. team this season.

For Tam, it was Luther Brown running for two touchdowns, 55 and 35 yards, and Ken Bolstad passing to Robin Nelson for the final tally. So now all the Indians have to do is beat San Rafael tomorrow, 5:45 p.m., the clash preceding the crucial varsity Tam-San Rafael battle slated for 8 p.m.

After a scoreless three quarters, Drake went to work on coach Tony Bailey's gridders with halfback Greg Corbett streaking around end for 32 yards and a score. Redwood's George Adams then returned the ensuing kickoff 70 yards for six-points, but the run was nullified by a clipping penalty.

Ken Kline, on a quick opener, sped 40 yards to paydirt for the second TD later in the fourth quarter; and the tough Pirate defense, lead by Wayne Wunderlich, Joe Thompson, Greg Trimble, Clark Jamison and Bruce Anderson held the junior Giants to 44 net yards rushing. And with a big rush on quarterback Pete Carroll, Drake held Redwood to 47 yards passing.

Kline, with 70 yards in 8 carries; Corbett, 58 yards in 12 attempts, and Rich La Franchi, 33 in 8 tries, led the Drake offense the upset. Adams led the Redwood gridders with 50 yards rushing, 9 carries.

With this weekend being the season's ender for each Marin Athletic League school — with the exception of Redwood which has culminated "loop" play — Drake's record is now 2-1-2 in J.V. league play and 3-3-2 overall.

Both of the already-mentioned games were played last Friday and in each case the home team won.

In last week's top freshman games coming down to the wire, Terra Linda's Trobabes remained in a second-place deadlock with Novato by downing Tam 45-7 last Friday at Terra Linda, while the junior Hornet's thumped Marin Catholic, 25-6, on Marin Catholic's turf.

Terra Linda has 54 players on its frosh squad, and each of them played from the second quarter on in the route over Tamalpais. Mark Farris sprinted 25 yards off tackle to chalk up the first Terra Linda score, while Steve Stocks passed 25 yards to Dave Stone for the second TD. Dewey Forry hit Dan Trondsen on a 60-yard pass-run play for another tally; Trondsen then hauled down a pass from quarterback Tom Jackson, that play covering 60 yards too.

The final two Trojan touchdowns came via Farris' 22-yard run-back of a stray Tam pass, and Jackson's 50-yard aerial to Bob Daniele.

Vince Lagoy's 5 yard run culminated a 50-yard drive for the Novato frosh's initial tally, while Andy Spring teamed with Garry Atkinson on a 60-yard scoring pass-play for another score; Chris Busher picked up a fumbled pitch-out and ran 30 yards to paydirt, and Ken Gnoss accounted for six-points with a quarterback sneak.

The Hornet freshman gained a total of 305 yards against the Wildkittens, about 200 on the ground with LaGoy rambling for 77 and Spring, 54 to account for most of it.

Novato and Terra Linda both 4-1 are set to clash tomorrow, 3 p.m. on the Novato field to decide which team will be the MCAL runner-up; or further, still have a chance to reign as co-champ in the event that front-running San Rafael, 5-0, idle last weeeknd, is upset by Tam, winless on the season.

The third-placed Redwood freshman, 3-3, downed Drake in last week's only other freshman scrap.

Other J.V. action saw Novato's junior Hornet's bop Marin Catholic, 32-6 last Friday at Novato, and San Rafael best Oakdale of Stockton in a non-conference tiff 12-6 last Friday on the San Rafael field.

San Rafael coach Gay Quandt cited the play of Mike Nave, fullback; Ken Johnston, end; Don Penales, halfback, and Cliff Crawley, guard. Nave ran 6 yards to paydirt in the first quarter, while Bob Hewett pulled down a 2-yard pass from Dale Anderson in the fourth period — after Oakdale had tied it at 6-all in the third stanza.

San Rafael's jayvees are now 4-2-1 overall, with one win against an MCAL school, the win over Marin Catholic and the draw with Terra Linda.

RUGGED LINEBACKER—Jim Sherbert, the key to Terra Linda's league-leading defense, was named the Independent-Journal's Prep of the Week for his play in the Trojans' 28-7 upset of Tamalpais last week. (Independent-Journal photo)

Trojans' Sherbert Is Prep Of Week

By GARY TISCHLER

It's easy to spot a backfield hero.

You take a computer, or an adding machine if you're poor or your head if you're crazy, and you total up yards, percentages, averages, carries and touchdowns, and you compare that to what Smiling Harvey Klutzmeyer did for good old Upper Swarthvine back before Knute Rockne was born. And you say, "Oh—he's a hero."

How do you measure a defensive hero?

You can add up his tackles, if you can match the right set of legs to the right jersey in a pileup, always a risky business at best. But there are better, less obvious ways.

In Terra Linda linebacker Jim Sherbert's case, you look for the tape measure in the wreckage of what used to be the other side's offense. The signs were pretty abundant in the Trojans' 28-7 victory over high-powered Tamalpais last week, forcing a three-way tie for first place in the Marin Athletic League.

Sherbert was the standout among a pack of fine Terra Linda defenders and for his handiwork, he is the Independent-Journal's "Prep of the Week."

SOME EVIDENCE

Some of the evidence included the net yardage of Tam's leading rusher—26 yards, given up grudgingly. Or the way Tam quarterback Steve Woodward took time out to clear his head after a particularly jarring tackle near the Tam bench, preventing a getaway on a keeper. Or the way Sherbert provided the Trojans with their clinching points, a blocked punt and fumble recovery in the Tam endzone for a Terra Linda safety and a 21-0 lead.

Jim is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Sherbert Sr., 131 Esmeyer Drive, San Rafael. He has four sisters and a brother.

Sherbert does not give up very much on the field. He is not fast but he seems to be at the right spot most of the time. "It's a matter of knowing where to go," he says. He hits hard and cleanly. His tackles are the kind you hear over on the other side of the field. They make you make a mental note to say a few prayers for the poor guy who just got hit.

"It hurts the little guys a lot more," Sherbert said. "Guys like Brown of Drake and Woodward. The bigger backs, it's not so bad and you feel it too."

"You have to learn how a guy runs," he said. "Like Bill Hickerson (of Drake). I hit him from the side the first time and he went down so I kept doing it that way.

"Mostly, you have to stay tough," he explained. "You can't let anybody get near you. You've got to keep blockers away from you, control them. And you have to think."

To him, football is a game you feel, and not just in the giving and taking of lumps. He gets worked up.

"I get up for a game pretty good," he said. "I don't know, you hear the band, and then the cheerleaders, and we talk it over on the bus and in the locker room. By that time, you're ready to play. You want to play."

Watch Sherbert in a game. He is never still. Always moving, encouraging, prodding his teammates, cheering, yelling, hitting. He leads. He calls the defensive sets, most of the time.

CREDITS COACH

"Mr. Payan (Jess Payan, Terra Linda defensive coach) has helped me the most," he said. "He showed me how to handle blockers, what to do with runners. He's made our defense."

The Trojans, who have made defense their trademark this season, at one point had a string of 20 straight scoreless quarters going. And it wasn't easy.

"You feel it after a while," he said. "I think that's what happened against Drake. After they scored, we sort of hung our heads a little."

The 19-0 loss to Drake was something of a low point for Sherbert.

"I got knocked out during a pileup," he said. "I got hit hard and knocked back. I was making the wrong calls after that and doing a lot of things wrong. It wasn't so good."

But most of the time, it is pretty good. In fact Sherbert is better than just good. He is probably the best around at his position.

ROBINSON

when he received all but one of the votes in the N.L. MVP balloting.

And he played most of the 1966 season with a stretched tendon in his right knee that likely will require surgery.

"I stretched it in May," Robinson said, "and although I'm a little skeptical about having an operation I'm probably going to call the doctor within the next couple of days.

"It's up to me whether I want to have it or try and play without having it, but I think I'm willing to have it because it still bothers me when I put pressure on it."

Robinson also got in another bid for a salary in the $100,000 neighborhood.

He made about $70,000 last year — highest in Baltimore history — but when he was picked as the World Series hero, he was asked if $100,000 was a good guess for what he would be seeking for 1967.

"That's where it begins," Robinson said.

Asked how he felt about his salary after winning the MVP award, Robinson said:

"I said $100,000 in a joking way then. But it would be a good place to start."

Dodgers Settle For 10-10 Tie Against Japanese '9'

HIROSHIMA, Japan (AP) — Despite four home runs, the Los Angeles Dodgers lost a commanding six-run lead and had to settle for a 10-10 tie in 10 innings by a combined Yomiuri Giants-Hiroshima Carps team today.

It was the first game of the Dodgers' 18-game barnstroming Japan tour that went into extra innings.

An estimated 18,000 spectators watched the game in the world's first atom-bombed city, renowned for its baseball fans.

The Dodgers now have a record of eight wins, four losses and one tie.

The Dodgers took a three-run lead in the opening frame on three runs including home runs by switch hitter Jim Lefebvre, his fifth of the current Japan tour, and Dick Stuart off starting pitcher Susumu Oba of Hiroshima.

But the Japanese overtook the Dodgers in the bottom of the second with four runs off Jim Brewer, who had trouble finding the plate. Brewer yielded three passes and three hits in 1 1-3 innings before he was replaced by Bob Miller.

The Dodgers tallied one run in the third, another in the fourth to move ahead 5-4 and exploded in the fifth for four runs on five hits including Stuart's second round tripper of the day.

With the score 10-4 in the bottom of the seventh, it looked as if the 1966 National League champions had put the game on ice. But the scrappy Japanese finally chased the Dodgers' third pitcher, Claude Osteen, to the showers.

The winners scored four runs in the eighth and two more in the ninth to knot the game 10-10.

San Rafael, Tam, Novato Triumph

San Rafael's "C" basketball team crushed Drake, 51-10, and Novato, already assured of the title, squeaked by Terra Linda, 44-41, in Marin Athletic League "C" basketball action yesterday.

In another game, Tam downed Redwood, 45-31 to nab its second win of the season. Dave Underhill's 11 points for Tam was high.

Warriors Host Bullets Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The San Francisco Warriors host Baltimore tonight at the Cow Palace and for a change will be the more rested club.

The Warriors ended an exhausting run of games Sunday by nudging the Bullets—and only because the Bullets missed 20 of 49 free throws.

But Baltimore won a tough battle at Los Angeles yesterday while the Warriors took a rest.

San Francisco has a 6-6 record which could have been 9-3 just about as easily. Rick Barry is to top scorer and Nate Thurmond the number one rebounder in the league.

Cal Sophomore Out Of Action

BERKELEY (AP) — Wayne Steward, a California sophomore defensive back in football and a 6-foot-7 basketball player, tore a ligament in his left knee and will be unable to compete during the football season — and possibly during the basketball season.

Stewart's injury happened during a pass drill in which he and another player went up to knock away the ball. He came down on the side of his foot and twisted his knee.

Vern Law Rips Into Walker

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (UPI)—Right-hander Vern Law of the Pittsburgh Pirates says poor handling of pitchers by manager Harry Walker cost the Pirates the 1966 National League pennant.

Law, who makes his off-season home in Meridian, Idaho, rapped Walker in an interview in Salt Lake City. He was in Utah's capital city to address a civic group and a youth group.

Law, winner of the Cy Young award in 1960 when the Pirates won the pennant, said an erratic sequence of pitching assignments and lack of faith in starting pitchers by Walker contributed to the Pirate downfall.

Bon Air Shopping Center Gains New Interior Decoration Studio

A new studio for Marilyn Royo Interior Design has been opened at 236 Bon Air Shopping Center, Greenbrae—moved from Larkspur.

Mrs. Royo has taken about 1,500 square feet next to Petrini's, and stocks many imports she says are not ordinarily found on the West Coast.

Her family has been in interior design work about 35 years. She started out on her own working from her home in San Rafael over three years ago and has been located in Larkspur for the last seven months. Both commercial and residential jobs are handled.

Her husband, Dr. Paris E. Royo, recently opened in Northgate. He is an opthamologist.

WORK HAS BEGUN on preparing a building for Tiburon National Bank's new branch office in the Nave Shopping Center, Novato. Construction schedule calls for completion in less than a month.

NOVATO TV has taken on an additional 700 square feet adjoining its store at 1123 Grant Avenue that was formerly occupied by Marin Title Guaranty Co. Alterations are under way to give appliance dealer James Prater more display and sales space.

SHELDON B. WRIGHT of San Rafael has been appointed assistant trust officer at Crocker-Citizens National Bank's North Bay trust office. He joined the bank in 1964 as a trust trainee at San Francisco administrative headquarters and was transferred to the San Rafael office last year as a trust administrator.

Barrie Wright

JACK BARRIE of Kentfield, president of Western States Leasing Corp., has been elected a director of the Western Leasing Conference, an association of major auto and truck leasing firms in the west. He reports that last year 41 per cent of all truck fleet transactions and 73 per cent of all passenger car fleet transactions in the U. S. were for leased units. The very size of the leasing industry, he says, can influence automobile manufacturers in styling, price and mechanical features.

EUGENE T. BAGLIETTO of Mill Valley, who has "retired" from the jewelry business at least twice to my knowledge, still hasn't made it—though it's true he no longer has Rafael Jewelers in downtown San Rafael.

You'll find him working these days out at Milen's Jewelers in the Northgate Shopping Center at least until Christmas—and maybe longer.

DAVIS, SKAGGS AND CO., San Francisco, which has four of its partners and four account executives as Marin County residents, has issued an investment study of Optical Coating Laboratory, Inc., Santa Rosa. The report was written by John R. Dunlop of Sausalito, partner and research director.

DON DE BISSCHOP of San Rafael, son of rod and gunman Barney De Bisschop, has joined the sales staff of De Long Chevrolet, San Rafael. He was formerly with Campbell-Bishop Chevrolet in Corte Madera.

JIM DOLLAR, with Redwood Realtors, San Rafael, has been awarded a real estate education certificate with a Certified Member Salesman designation by the California Real Estate Assn.

INSURANCE — John R. Holland of San Rafael has been appointed an agent of this district for Prudential Insurance Co. . . . Mrs. Beatrice Mead, associated with the Richard A. Secrist agency in San Rafael has qualified for a three-day seminar for women conducted by John Hancock Life . . . Donald Abinante of Marinwood, associate of the Edward K. Wachsman San Rafael agency, attended State Mutual Life's recent career training school at Worcester, Mass.

FOR MARIN'S FUTURE

Route 17's Role: To Unsnarl Traffic

(Second of five articles.)

Major objective of studies recently completed by the State Division of Highways on the proposed east-west freeway to West Marin, extending Route 17, is to obtain relief for the traffic on the city streets and county roads.

Results of the four-year studies have been crystalized in four possible basic corridors, variations of each, and combinations of several.

These are to be acted on by the various cities involved and the county board of supervisors. A full-scale public hearing is scheduled next Monday at the Rafael Theater in San Rafael.

In addition to the deficiencies of existing east-west roads, Sir Francis Drake Boulevard to the Hub and from the Hub to Route 1, and the Second Street-Red Hill Avenue route from Route 101 to the Hub, serious consideration had to be given to existing master and general plans.

Marin County's Streets and Highway Plan, for instance, was prepared in 1952, prior to the establishment of Route 17 west of Highway 101. This plan shows major thoroughfares along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard (Southern Corridor); through San Rafael from Highway 101 at Irwin Street north of Albert Park and out the Miracle Mile to Sir Francis Drake Boulevard (Central Corridor) and along existing Lucas Valley Road (Northern Corridor).

The county's master plan for the San Geronimo Valley adopted Sept. 5, 1961, shows an arterial highway in the approximate location of the route represented by Line "C" in the recent studies. The West Marin Master Plan shows the state highway through San Rafael, San Anselmo and Fairfax over White Hill to the San Geronimo Valley and north to Nicasio. The Kentfield general plan shows the same freeway location as the West Marin Master Plan.

The San Anselmo Master Plan dated May 1959, shows an alignment corresponding to the "B" Line, or Central Corridor studied by the state. The San Rafael general plan of 1966 shows an alignment corresponding to the Central-Ridge Corridor.

However, the San Anselmo City Council on April 27, 1965, and June 28, 1966, passed resolutions against any freeway through the city limits, repudiating the San Anselmo Master Plan insofar as this highway is concerned. The City of Larkspur adopted a general plan in January of this year which does not make provision for a Route 17 freeway. In a resolution of Jan. 6, Larkspur recommended selection of a route which would connect with Highway 101 no farther north than San Rafael.

The Central Corridor, or "B" Line is a continuation of the existing Route 17 from the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge. It interchanges with Highway 101 and proceeds west through San Rafael south of Fourth Street, parallels the Miracle Mile (Fourth Street and Red Hill Avenue) to the Hub intersection in San Anselmo. It continues westerly through San Anselmo, Fairfax, and over the White Hill grade to the San Geronimo Valley. Here the corridor swings northward to the Nicasio Valley. The "B" Line is in urban area from the Richmond Bridge to Fairfax and the "C" Line is a continuation of the "B" Line into rural area from Fairfax to Nicasio.

When the entire distance from the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge to Nicasio is considered, this corridor is the shortest of the four basic and two transfer combinations.

The "B" Line requires moderate revision to portions of the existing street pattern serving the freeway in San Rafael. Moderate revisions are also required in the existing street systems in San Anselmo and Fairfax to maintain adequate local circulation.

This routing offers acreage within the highway right of way at both the San Quentin Wye and the Irwin Street ends of the interchange with Highway 101 for joint use. This acreage rests on deep bay mud and is suitable for recreation use or light buildings.

The number of single family residences required is topped only by the Southern Corridor, and the number of commercial units needed is the highest of all corridors, since the "B" Line passes near the commercial centers of the three cities along the route. It would require about 17 per cent of the assessed valuation of the San Anselmo business district and about 33 per cent of Fairfax's.

Construction of this routing would involve considerable disruption to existing traffic along the Miracle Mile and on Center Boulevard in San Anselmo.

Estimates for the "B" Line alternates include the cost of putting off- and on-ramps to Lindaro Street in San Rafael from Highway 101. These ramps are included in the freeway agreement dated Jan. 24, 1963 with the City of San Rafael. They would still have to be constructed if a Southern, Ridge or Lucas Valley Corridor were adopted.

Cost of the Central Corridor is high as it involves a costly interchange with Highway 101 and passes through the core areas of San Rafael, San Anselmo and Fairfax.

However, according to Alan S. Hart, Division of Highways district engineer, this routing will provide the greatest overall relief to local streets and roads in the study area.

From White Hill to Nicasio the "C" Line is in rural area. Its alignment avoids the future San Geronimo High School site, the San Geronimo Redwood Grove, and redwood groves along the San Geronimo - Nicasio Road.

Since San Anselmo and Fairfax have objected to a freeway which would be located in the Central Corridor and San Rafael officials have indicated that a freeway through San Rafael to San Anselmo would be necessary, the state's studies took into consideration a routing which would provide freeway service for San Rafael, but bypassing San Anselmo and Fairfax. This is accomplished by means of a Central - Ridge combination. This alternate costs no more than the Central Corridor.

This Central-Ridge combination leaves the built-up areas and climbs to the ridge top behind Red Hill. It does, however, pass over a portion of the Sunny Hills Home for Emotionally Disturbed Children and through the northeast portion of the area proposed for a San Anselmo City Park.

Another combination of routes was also investigated. This combines portions of the Central Ridge and Lucas Valley Corridors.

The "M-4" Line is a crossover between the Ridge Route and the Lucas Valley corridors. It is an alternate which bypasses the Sleepy Hollow area as well as the San Geronimo and southerly Nicasio Valley areas.

This combination has the advantage of providing good service through San Rafael and ramp connections to San Anselmo at the Hub, said Hart. Effect on the community is about the same as the Ridge Route.

Shortcomings of this combination, however, are that it bypasses not only the dense communities of San Anselmo and Fairfax but also the Woodacre - San Geronimo areas which may be developed soon, the engineer said. The entrance to Samuel P. Taylor State Park is also bypassed.

In general, the Division of Highways engineers feel the Central Corridor would provide the best service to the public and the area.

The Central Corridor would probably disrupt the greatest number of people and businesses.

The Division of Highways claims disruption in the central San Rafael area (Route 101 to the juncture of Second and Fourth streets) would not be as great as it might initially appear. The industrial area between Highway 101 and B Street is relatively old. The area between B Street and the juncture of Second and Fourth Streets is zoned commercial with transition taking place very slowly, indicating no shortage of commercial property.

Current total assessed valuation for Marin County is $387,230,940. The corridors studied would remove respectively, from the lowest to the highest, $750,000 (.19 of one per cent) to $8,100,730 (2.1 per cent) from the total tax rolls. At the current rate of increase, due to new construction and reassessment, a reduction of $6 million from the total tax rolls would be replaced in from six weeks to two months, according to the Division of Highways estimates.

(Tomorrow: the Southern Corridor.)

Trading Stamp Crush Replaces Picket Lines

It was all quiet on the picketing front today as Marin housewives took a breather after nearly a week's patrolling in front of supermarkets.

Members of RAGE, Residents Against Grocery Expenses, will meet tonight to plan future strategy in their struggle to lower food prices, said Marilyn Gordon of San Anselmo, chairman of the group's steering committee.

It was less than quiet yesterday and today at the Blue Chip Stamp Redemption Store on Bellam Boulevard in San Rafael.

More than 900 customers jammed the store yesterday, reported manager Allan Lai. The record crush was partly due to the upcoming Christmas season, said Lai, "but it was also undoubtedly due to people panicking about the continuation of trading stamps."

Lai said there was no possibility of the stamps being discontinued, "but a lot of people are beginning to wonder if we'll honor the stamps."

What did they redeem stamps for? "Anything and everything in the catalog. We haven't, and won't, run out of any item," he said.

A lively meeting on the housewives' revolt is forecast Saturday by the Schooners Club of First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo.

The married couples' club, many of whose members disagree with picketing, has organized a panel discussion. Harlan Floyd said the public meeting will begin at 8 p.m. at the church at 72 Kensington Road.

Speakers will include Merle J. Goddard, executive director of the California Grocers Assn.; Bernard Saccone, co-owner of United Markets; a representative from the Consumers Cooperative store in Berkeley, and Mrs. Gordon of RAGE.

Salary Deliberation Is Of Public Concern

Despite constant vigilance by the public and the press, public officials periodically get the notion that they should meet behind closed doors in some smoke-filled room.

Just last week, some members of the board of supervisors got the notion that they might meet in closed session to discuss salaries of county executives.

"Discussion of salaries," "evaluation of employees" or "personnel matters" are all favorite phrases that advocates of secrecy trot out in periodic attempts to slam the door.

Sinister motives do not always lie behind these attempts to close the meeting to the public. In some instances, as in salary discussions, the public officials may be reluctant to weigh the effectiveness of an employee in public. Or they may not want to suggest holding the line on salaries for fear of falling into disfavor with the employees.

But these decisions, involving the spending of the taxpaying public's money, are part and parcel of the duties of a public official. If there are officials so sensitive that they cannot withstand public scrutiny on how they spend the public's money, they should not be in office in the first place.

In order to help keep the public's business public, state laws have been passed to insure that the public officials will be responsible and responsive to the people who foot the bill.

Laws against secrecy in government are quite explicit.

The Legislative Counsel of the State of California wrote less than two months ago that in his opinion, "the provisions of the Ralph M. Brown Act prohibit a city council from holding an executive session to discuss the salaries of city department heads."

Executive sessions are allowed only "to consider the appointment, employment or dismissal of a public officer or employee or to hear complaints or charges brought against such officer or employee."

Almost all officials elected to city and county posts in Marin are high caliber men of integrity. They should have nothing to hide. If they want to close a session to hire an employee, hear specific charges brought against an employee, or to fire an employee, then the public can expect their officials to say so.

Attempts to close the door on the pretext of "salary discussions" or "evaluation of employees" or the vague term of "personnel session" are distasteful to say the least.

Those who insist on using such ruses to close the door become highly suspect.

The Meaning Of November

November means many things to many different people. If one lives in Marin, it means probable rain and a winter garden starting to grow. If one was a candidate for public office, it means the end of the struggle, and from the rest of us a sigh of whispered relief that the tension and tumult of the campaign are over.

For the gourmet, as well as the prayerful, there is Thanksgiving. For those who do their Christmas shopping early, there is an abundance of ads to assist them. For children, there is the thought and shiver of anticipation.

For most people, November is a very pleasant month.

SACRAMENTO SCENE

Housewives Should Also Limit Themselves To Their Purse

By EDWIN S. CAPPS

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—The sporadic outbreak of housewives' revolt against the high cost of food has served to lighten up the news pages during the past few weeks.

There are a couple of weaknesses in the approach of the housewives that could spell the end to any continued organized revolt. First, of course, is that they have picked a single segment of the economy.

AS MRS. HELEN Nelson of Mill Valley, Gov. Edmund G. Brown's consumer counsel pointed out, if housewives can save money on food, it will leave more to spend on other items. But is there any reason to believe that the alleged factors which have caused the increase in food prices have not figured equally in the cost of clothes, television sets or other goods?

Secondly, while the guns of the housewives and the concerned consumer counsel are turned on the villains of the food packing, processing and selling industry, there are too many other factors which go into the price of cereal or instant mashed potatoes on the shelves. These include labor, state and federal taxes, government support programs, and other governmental activity, such as the elimination of the source of farm labor through the Mexican bracero program.

PERHAPS more important, shopping is a personal thing with most families. Mrs. Nelson, unlike Marie Antoinette, says that if the people can't afford cake, let them eat bread. She has advocated establishing of limits on how high the housewives should go on prices for certain items before switching.

If the price of oranges goes too high, Mrs. Nelson says, buy tomato juice. If the price of butter continues to climb (largely as the result of a shortage and high government support prices) let the people buy margarine, she says. In fact, Mrs. Nelson said practically no one uses the high priced spread anymore.

But there are a number of households, including our own, where tomato juice instead of orange juice, or the lower priced spread would meet with no favor from the family.

AND THE housewife who has become accustomed to baking her cakes out of boxes or serving her mashed potatoes from boxes may not take too kindly to suggestions she should revolt against buying such convenience foods. It's just possible that some of them may sneak around the corner and buy such foods anyway.

Mrs. Nelson also believes the stores increase the operating costs by staying open late at night and on Sundays or holidays. She has advocated their shutting down to lower prices. By the same token, of course, they could eliminate carry-out boys, reduce the number of checkers and display their wares on counters with narrow aisles.

BUT HERE again there might be housewives who would break away and go to stores offering the services to which they have become accustomed.

The food revolt is not a Republican or Democrat thing although it has given some of the more liberal elements the chance to trot out trading stamps and advertising as another unnecessary evil contributing to high prices. But Mrs. Nelson was asked if the state-operated marketing and advertising promotions on California products also should be eliminated.

Her answer was somewhat similar to the time she declined to oppose Brown's plans for new taxes, saying once a policy decision had been made, she no longer took any action. It was received in some quarters as an admission she would represent the consumers, but only to a point.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Housewives Are Cheered

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Cheers for the housewives who are picketing grocery stores with giveaway schemes!

Any store manager will tell you that of course the stamps, the games and other gimmicks increase prices. The stores have to buy the stamps, buy the dispensing machines, and pay the clerks for their expensive time wasted in handing out the stamps and bingo cards. Naturally, they must add these costs to prices.

One of the clerks candidly explained the philosophy to me:

"Most of these women shoppers are so stupid that they don't realize the stamps add to the cost, so they go to the stores that hand them out."

Are we so stupid? I don't think so, and will happily put our family's grocery budget with the non-stamp, non-gimmick stores for as long as the boycott is called.

Speaker Contradicts Report On Remarks

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I respectfully submit that your reporter's account of the recent exchange between Bill Weissich and me concerning the governor's position on the Rumford Act and Proposition 14 does not fairly reflect the substance of my remarks. Your Oct. 27 news story states that I criticized Brown's "strategy in taking the Rumford Act out of the political arena" and said my party is due criticism for hurried enactment of a housing act that went beyond any other state in terms of single-family housing sales control.

Even with due allowances for necessary and good faith journalistic capsulization, this is a substantially incorrect summary of my much more complete statement, which included the following points:

1. The governor's particular tactical approach in appointing a study commission to take the Rumford Act out of the political arena might be open to criticism by some, but he could not be faulted in attempting to avoid a heated and wide ranging debate while Proposition 14 is still before the United States Supreme Court on the Petition for review filed by the California Real Estate Assn.

2. There exists in California today, in the words of Franklin D. Roosevelt, "A great, unreasoning fear" of fair housing legislation, which mght be better quenched by specific legislative proposals from the governor than solely by the appointment of a study commission. Appointment of such a commission, however, represents no "compromise in principle."

3. The party councils were divided at the time of the adoption of the Rumford Act over the question whether the administrative enforcement provisions should apply immediately to single-family dwellings. The Speaker of the Assembly felt that the better policy was to delay coverage of individual residences for a two year period while the administrative features were permitted to work at other levels in order to demonstrate to the public that there was in fact nothing to fear from the Rumford Act. This had been the pattern of enactment in the pioneering states of Massachusetts and New York, and it had worked well there. The Administration thought otherwise, and the Act was adopted in its full form in one step. The California Real Estate Association seized upon that factor to wage a campaign of fear from which we will be a long time recovering.

At no time did I remotely suggest that the Rumford Act goes "beyond any other state in terms of single-family housing sales control." Such a statement would be patently incorrect, since the statutes in Massachusetts, New York and other Eastern states now cover precisely this area, and the experience has shown that, allowed to work in a climate free from fear, these laws are to the benefit of all the people. They could be here as well.

I believe that those in attendance at the reported meeting would confirm that the foregoing is a more accurate summary of my remarks.

RAGE Aims And Policies

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In order to clarify the issue brought to your readers' attention in the Oct. 31 paper, I should like to point out that RAGE did some comparative shopping in the three most mentioned stores in San Anselmo this week before we began to make our presence known in other ways. United Market, Safeway, and Guasco's market were all shopped, for the identical items, by brand name and with particular attention to size of can, box, jar, etc.

Our results showed that in not one of the random picked items on our list was the independent store undersold by the larger ones, and in several items the larger stores charged from three to ten cents more than the independent store.

From the statements of Mr. Ball of Safeway, Mr. Saccone, of United, and Mr. Johnson of the grocer's association, the casual reader might be inclined to pooh pooh the whole idea of the need for lower prices. If the games and gimmicks don't keep the prices up, something else may be doing it and we aim to see what it really is after all.

Review On Markham Draws Reader Praise

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I found a couple of interesting items in the Marin Magazine recently. One was the travel article "Lebanon," a little gem. The other was a review of "The Unknown Edwin Markham," by Louis Filler.

Although your reviewer commended the book, she did put Markham in his place, stating that his fame rested on one poem, "The Man With a Hoe," and that his other writings are unnoteworthy.

A good many years ago, me an' some other lit'rary gals attended a tea at the Fairmont where Markham held forth. Usually, at those clambakes, an author discourses preliminarily on poets and poetry in general, then skillfully introduces his own latest opus. Well, that's okay; but Markham spent the whole afternoon plugging a book he had just written, mentioning, with no little pride, his library of three thousand volumes, and so on.

He looked quite imposing and patriarchial, standing there with his white beard, and we all agreed that Markham was a "grand old man" but . . .

Poets and pigs are appreciated only after they are dead.

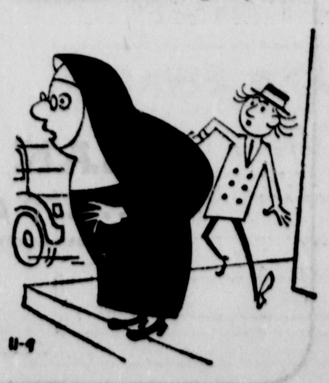
TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

JOHN STRALEY tells of a long-haired, skintight-trousered hipster who spotted an elderly nun hesitating at a crowded street corner, obviously afraid to buck the surging traffic. The hipster, in a seeming character switch, gently took the elderly nun's arm and led her carefully across the street. She was profuse in her thanks. "Think nothing of it, sister," the hipster told her airily. "Any friend of Batman's is a friend of mine."



A FEW OF those youngsters' letters home from camp to mythical parents:

1. "Dear Mom: Last night a mad hermit killed all the kids. Your late son, Putney."

2. "I got fined for being late to breakfast this morning. I guess I overwashed. Love, Nancy."

3. "Dear Dad: We took a couple of long hikes this week. Please send my other sneaker. Donald."

4. "Dear Folks: What is an epidemic? Love, Tom."

U.S. Should Use This Quote: 'Do Right And Damn The Odds'

WASHINGTON — One of the most irrelevant, misleading, and meaningless issues ever introduced in an election was again pushed at the American people in the closing stage of the 1966 campaign.

This issue is that of "declining U.S. prestige abroad" and who's to blame.

It was irrelevant, misleading, and meaningless in 1960 when John Kennedy used it based on classified USIA polls leaked by a pro-Kennedy official of the information agency.

It is equally so today now that the same music is being played by the Republicans, this time from a poll taken in Western Europe by Opinion Research Corp. of Princeton, N. J., at the direction of Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky, chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee.

WHETHER WE are loved or resented, approved or disapproved of by foreign governments or peoples has absolutely nothing to do with the rightness or worth of a nation's foreign policy.

It provided no basis for choosing between Nixon and Kennedy and it provided no basis for choosing Republicans over Democrats—or vice versa — in the congressional elections.

We may pursue a bad policy and win a lot of friends or we may pursue what we deem a good policy and lose friends, but winning or losing friends abroad is certainly not the way to decide what the United States ought to do.

THE USIA polls in the late 50s, some of which conveniently fell into the hands of Democratic Sen. William J. Fulbright in the middle of the presidential campaign, were not designed to help shape American policy. They were designed to help the USIA expound American policy.

And I fail to see anything in Senator Morton's polls which cast any light whatsoever on the rightness or wrongness of U.S. foreign policy today. They are merely irrelevant, misleading and meaningless.

HOW MISLEADING? One of Senator Morton's questions reads: "As a result of present U.S. foreign policy, are we closer to or farther from world peace?" The answer: 14 per cent of the 6,000 persons interviewed in five Western European countries said closer to world peace, 46 per cent replied farther from world peace, and 40 per cent saw no change or had no opinion.

Note that no point of reference was given in the question to compare present policy with past policy. Farther from world peace than at the time of the Suez crisis and the Hungarian revolution in 1956?

Farther from peace than in the wake of the cold Kennedy-Khrushchev confrontation in Vienna in 1961 and the subsequent East-West clashes in West Berlin at which time JFK began a limited mobilization and sent additional troops to Germany?

OR TAKE ANOTHER question: "Under which President—Johnson, Kennedy, or Eisenhower — has American world prestige been the highest?" Answer: 11 per cent said Eisenhower, 74 per cent picked Kennedy, 2 per cent said Johnson, 13 per cent no difference or no opinion.

But what if, instead of being taken in the midst of the Viet Nam war, a similar poll had been taken in the midst of the Cuban missile crisis, when the world held its breath for fear our ultimatum would bring on a nuclear war? Would JFK's "prestige" have been put at 74 per cent or nearer 2 per cent? And what would it matter? Not a whit. The nation did what it believed right and necessary.

SENATOR MORTON suggests that in order to get a higher peace rating, the President ought to pay more attention to developing NATO. But the criticism of the U.S. in Europe is that strengthening NATO is warlike because the threat of war has declined.

I like the advice of British historian and foreign correspondent James Morris who recently wrote: "To be loved is not the end of greatness. 'Do Right and Damn the Odds' might be an American motto."

Social Security And New Benefits

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — There is good news coming for social security beneficiaries who must work to make ends meet.

Regardless of what Congress does about increasing benefits next year, the amount of outside earnings that individuals will be permitted to make and still continue to draw full social security benefits is going to be hiked.

As the first order of business when the 90th Congress convenes in January, congressional leaders of both parties and the Johnson administration are in agreement that the ceilings on "earnings limitations" should be relaxed.

THIS LEGISLATIVE decision was reached during the furious round of politicking in the closing days of the 89th Congress after President Johnson announced plans to seek a $2.3 billion-a-year boost in benefits next year.

Although the frantic jockeying that followed the presidential pronouncement produced no agreement on the benefits, legislative leaders did decide to move swiftly in January to ease the "earnings limitation" ceiling.

Only thing left undecided is how much additional outside income persons drawing social security should be allowed to earn before their benefits would be cut back.

UNDER PRESENT LAW, individuals can earn up to $1,500 per year without loss of any benefits. Earnings from $1,500 to $2,700 results in a loss of $1 benefits for each $2 earned; and earnings above $2,700 result in a loss of $1 benefits for every $1 earned. There is no ceiling on outside earnings for persons over 72.

Social security beneficiaries can count on being permitted at least an additional $10 a month in outside earnings next year without loss of benefits.

IN A MEMORANDUM to the House Ways and Means Committee, which will open hearings on the proposal in January, the treasury department stated that the Johnson administration favors boosting the "earnings limitations" ceiling from $1,500 to $1,620 immediately.

Democratic and Republican lawmakers have much more grandiose plans. Senator John McCormack, D-Mass., who wants any ceiling increase voted by Congress next year to become effective as of Jan. 1, 1967, favors lifting the figure to $2,400.

His recommendation, forwarded to Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., chairman, last month, endorsed Ohio Rep. Michael Feighan's bill proposing the $2,400 ceiling. McCormack acted after Feighan reported to him that his proposal was the most popular piece of social legislation he proposed during the session.

The Ohio Democrat reported receiving more than 1,000 letters and telephone calls in less than three weeks after he introduced the legislation. All supported the measure or asked for more details.

Moment Of Truth At Hand On Long Awaited Annexation

UNTIL recently, Tiburon had two competitors in "the race" for annexation of the Strawberry area and it could have ended in a photo-finish at the Local Agency Formation Commission with either or both of them. Since Strawberry has withdrawn its petition for incorporation and Mill Valley has withdrawn its request to annex the area, including the Strawberry Shopping Center and the Golden Gate Baptist Seminary, the two-and-a-half-year-old Tiburon plan stands alone before the Local Agency Formation Commission. The moment of truth may come at the hearing tomorrow

THERE IS more than a touch of irony in the situation: Tiburon's city fathers say they were working on a long-range program to annex unincorporated areas of the entire peninsula and would not have taken action this year were it not for the move by Mill Valley in August.

For some time now, whenever I have talked with Tiburon's Mayor John S. Hoffmire on any subject, he has managed to get around to his favorite one — annexation. This week, his enthusiasm was still undented.

"Tiburon wants annexation to succeed for reasons of a united peninsula, even if Mill Valley was able to obtain the Strawberry shopping center," he said. He was also aware that because Mill Valley and Strawberry withdrew their petitions, they could re-file new ones at any time.

MORE THAN one special district on the peninsula has expressed some concern over its future if annexation succeeds. Hoffmire's answer to these critics is the promise that "no existing special district would be taken over by Tiburon after annexation unless the board of directors of that district would request such action."

Tiburon is hopefully reserving two seats on both its planning commission and its parks and recreation commission for residents of newly annexed areas.

The predominant theme of Tiburon's annexation campaign has been "more services and less and lower taxes."

TIBURON'S petition before LAFCO includes all the unincorporated areas on the peninsula, not just Strawberry. "We're going ahead with it," Hoffmire said this week rather than postpone it for another year. "Tiburon's desire to unite the peninsula is understandable and orderly. But it waits now on two recisions—first LAFC. If that hearing is successful, then we must again wait to find out which areas are willing to be annexed and that will come later in polling booths around the peninsula."

THINGS Aren't All Bad Department—John McChesney of Tiburon had mixed emotions recently when he was made vice president of one of the leading coffee companies in San Francisco (Hills Bros.). He was feeling grateful for donations from residents to help him pay expenses incurred last summer after he made a citizen's arrest of Eric Hodgman of the Prince Charlie Inn. He said the donations now total about half of the $550 he estimates he'll need for court and attorney fees. Final legal details of closing the case are under way.

HE FELT sadder, but wiser, to learn it is often the citizen who pays—through his pocketbook—in a citizen's arrest. But then—he was also understandably happy about that promotion, too.

Probably everyone has his favorite child-experience to remember from this last Halloween or some other one. Biggest kick of the evening at our house was that our collie, not the candy, was the most popular item. We were visited by only a few children who ventured out on Paradise Drive. One boy asked if he could come in and "say hello to 'Tammy'." He and eight other little boys trooped into our living room and patted Tammy on her willing head.

"I don't think she remembers me," said one wistfully, but seriously, behind an ugly rubber mask.

Another group of little girls said they saw our "pretty doggie" through the window and also wanted to pet her. They liked the candy and the change to UNICEF but somehow, they enjoyed Tammy best. As for Tammy, she heartily approved of all the Halloween attention.

Hard For Washington, D.C. Resident To Explain Voting

WASHINGTON — It is very hard for a resident of Washington, D.C., to explain the American election system to a foreigner. Just the other day a representative of South Viet Nam came here to study our elections so he could go back to his country and report on how the greatest democracy in the world works.

Let us call him Tri Vang Vin.

"Whom are you going to vote for on Tuesday?" Tri Vang Vin asked.

"Nobody," I told him. "We are not allowed to vote."

"BUT HOW CAN THAT be?" Tri Vang Vin asked. "Is this not the capital of the United States?"

"Exactly," I replied. "That's why we're not allowed to vote. You see, anyone who lives in Washington, D.C., may only vote once every four years for the President of the United States. The rest of the time on election day we have to stay home."

"But who represents you in Congress?"

"Everybody," I said. "A congressman from South Carolina might tell us how much money we can have for schools, a representative from Nevada could dictate how much taxes we have to pay and a senator from West Virginia will tell us what kind of police department we can have. We're too dumb here to think for ourselves."

TRI VANG VIN said, "How can you be a democracy if you cannot decide for yourselves who will represent you?"

"Oh, we are a democracy, all right. That's why we don't have the vote. You must understand that the question of home rule for Washington has been debated many times, and it's always been defeated because Congress claims that if they gave the 800,000 citizens of Washington the right to choose their own government it would be unconstitutional."

"But the people in Washington always keep telling us that we must allow the people of South Viet Nam to vote."

"That's true. They want the people of South Viet Nam to have the vote, but they don't want the people in Washington to have a say in their own affairs. You see, Congress trusts you, but they don't trust us."

"OUR CONGRESS would never stand for that," I said. "We're pouring a lot of money in there just so all the people in South Viet Nam can decide their own destinies. If you disenfranchised Saigon your elections would be a fraud and a mockery."

"But why aren't your elections a fraud and a mockery if 800,000 people in the nation's capital have nothing to say about their destinies?"

"Because we're not a backward nation. We have spent billions of dollars persuading everyone in the world that the only solution to their problems is free and open elections. And this country believes that everyone should have the God-given right to vote, except, of course, those people who live in the District of Columbia. You see, my friend, the United States has to draw the line somewhere."

Canadians Expected To Go Far In American Team Play

Sammy Kehela and Eric Murray, of Toronto, voted the best non-Italian pair in the World championship last year are expected to give a good account of themselves this week during a special contest to select the 1967 North American team. Kehela's card technique is shown today.

SAFE GROUND

When dummy's queen of diamonds held the first trick Kehela was on safe ground.

Now he could afford to lose a club trick.

The standard safety play is to give up the first club trick by leading a low club from dummy.

GAME CONTRACT

East can take his jack, but then South gets the other five clubs and is thus sure of his game contract.

It would be unsafe to start out with the ace and king of clubs. The bad break would limit dummy to three club tricks since there would be no entry to the other clubs.

IMPROVED TECHNIQUE

Kehela improved on the standard technique by leading the jack of hearts from dummy at the first trick.

If East had the king of hearts he would surely cover dummy's jack, and then South would get two heart tricks among other benefits.

East played a low heart at the second trick, and Kehela correctly assumed that East did not have the king of hearts.

A FINESSE

He therefore stepped up with the ace of hearts and returned a club to try a finesse with dummy's ten.

This had the same effect as leading a low club from dummy at the second trick.

East took the jack of clubs, and Kehela then had nine easy tricks.

The improvement was that South had a shot at a second heart trick and also would have avoided the loss of a club trick if West had held the jack of clubs.

Kehela's partner has the Scotch blood, but Kehela himself is very thrifty when it comes to giving up tricks.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♥ K 10 4 2
♦ K 10 9 5 3

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two hearts.

You have top values for this bid and you will therefore accept any invitation to game if your partner can muster up a further bid. A fair case can be made for jumping to four hearts and this jump would be preferable if you had a singleton spade — since you would then be interested in shutting out the last player if he had a fair hand and a good spade suit.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, Nov. 9, the 313th day of 1966 with 52 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Mars and Jupiter. The evening star is Saturn.

American actress Marie Dressler was born on this day in 1873.

On this day in history:

In 1872, fire broke out in a Boston warehouse. By the next day, 800 buildings had been destroyed and the total damage amounted to $75 million.

In 1933, President Franklin Roosevelt created the Civil Works Administration as an emergency measure to provide jobs for the unemployed.

In 1953, the Supreme Court ruled that big-league baseball does not come within the scope of federal anti-trust laws.

In 1965, a massive power blackout affected millions of persons in the northeastern states and Canada.

A thought for the day—American President Ulysses Grant said: "Labor disgraces no man. Unforunately you find men disgrace labor."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Light-face type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

Arkansas Goes To GOP Rockefeller

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Republican Winthrop Rockefeller climaxed a six-year drive to make Arkansas a two - party state early today by beating Democrat Jim Johnson for governor.

With the unofficial count virtually complete, Rockefeller held a solid 23,000-vote lead that had mounted steadily during the evening.

Rockefeller's election in his second try for the state's top office gives Arkansas its first Republican governor since Reconstruction.

Dixie Bond Issue Plan On Trustees' Agenda

A $1.5 million bond issue for additional school buildings in the Dixie School District will be discussed by district trustees at 8 p.m. today at the district office, 35 Trellis Drive, San Rafael.

Supt. Dennie B. Willis said the district's finance committee has recommended that the bond issue be put on the ballot at the April trustee election.

An old Texas superstition was that a red ant tied on a string around a person's neck was a good cure for a cold.

Police Review Board Defeated By Large Vote

NEW YORK (UPI) — New York City voters yesterday overwhelmingly voted to abolish a civilian-dominated board to review complaints of police misconduct.

The defeat came despite backing for the board by civil rights groups and most major candidates.

Venezuela Politics

CARACAS (UPI) —Veneuzela, oil-rich country on the northern coast of South America, is a federal republic made up of the Caracas Federal District, 20 states, two federal territories and 72 small islands in the Caribbean Sea.

Rockefeller Wins Big In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rocekfeller, overcoming a 3-2 Democratic registration edge and a strong Conservative vote, won a smashing voctory yesterday over Democrat Frank D. O'Connor.

The 58-year-old moderate Republican governor, promising to continue the progressive programs of his first two terms, called the victory "very gratifying."

In the gubernatorial race, the Conservative party's Paul L. Adams, an upstate college dean new to state politics, made a surprisingly strong race.

In the late tabulation, however, he fell behind Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., a Democrat running on the Liberal party ticket. Adams opposed the police review board, and Roosevelt was one of its strongest backers.

Meantime, a nephew of Rockefeller's, John D. Rockefeller IV was elected as a Democrat to the West Virginia House of Delegates.

'Burroing' Into History

TUTTLETOWN, (UPI) — Oldtimers in this Tuolumne County town say nearby Jackass Hill got its name back in the Gold Rush era when more than 200 burros once were corraled on the hill.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

151 Cases Of Malaria In Nation Mostly Came From South Viet Nam

VAN DELLEN

There were 151 cases of malaria in the United States during the first six months of the year. Imported malaria was responsible for 149 cases of which 100 were military personnel and 49 civilians. The majority came from South Viet Nam; others originated in Africa and Asia. The cases from home were two children of one Kentucky family.

Our only concern is that an Anopheles mosquito will bite one of the victims and pass along the malarious condition. This need not be one of our own mosquitoes because disease-bearing insects are found in aircraft flying international routes.

INVESTIGATORS FROM the USAF School of Aerospace Medicine recently reported that insects that transmit filariasis, tick-borne typhus, malaria, yellow fever, Japanese encephalitis, onchocerciasis, East African coast fever, Nairobi disease, dengue, and four other tropical infections have been found on these planes. Insect control at airports is not always effective. Aerosol spraying and vapor insecticides dispersed within the aircraft are most helpful.

Malaria has proved to be a stubborn foe especially in South Viet Nam and Thailand. The causative parasites have developed a resistance to chloroquine, our number one drug for treatment and prophylaxis. Other synthetic anti-malarials have proved ineffective, but not quinine. In this respect, quinine is again restored to a place of importance in the treatment of certain types of malaria.

MEANWHILE PUBLIC health officers are trying new products such as cycloguanil and combinations of the older drugs. Early studies reveal that cycloguanil offers protection lasting at least six months and in some cases, 10 months. Considering the number of men in the area and the low incidence of malaria, our service men need not be alarmed.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

SCHIZOPHRENIA

N. G. writes: What is the probable hereditary effect of schizophrenia? Assume that both spouses are in the child-producing age, with a negative history of mental disease in both families, and that the wife had the ailment when younger but was cured and is pursuing a normal life since her marriage.

REPLY

I have no statistics for an answer, but the chances are slight that the disease will appear in the offspring unless the father or mother has a long family history of a similar condition.

UREMIC STATE

L. G. writes: What is meant by uremic convulsions?

REPLY

Convulsions resulting from the poisonous effects of uremia. The individual loses consciousness and the muscles quiver and contract to such an extent that the head and extremities move constantly. With improvement in kidney function, uremia subsides and convulsions disappear.

FAMILY HEADACHES

D. E. E. writes: Is migraine hereditary?

REPLY

Yes, in many instances. If both parents are afflicted, 70 per cent of the offspring may suffer from these headaches. If only one parent is a victim, 34 per cent of the children may be troubled.

BASIC SEVEN

R. G. writes: What foods contain nourishment and vitamins needed in our daily menus?

REPLY

Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on the basic seven foods.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Your Insurance And The Courts

Most of us have policies in which our insurance company agrees to defend us against a lawsuit if we are in a car mishap.

The company must try in good faith to settle claims out of court, especially when one gets sued for more than he is insured for.

Your policy covers only what it says it will: it does not cover unlicensed drivers under fourteen, or a driver who lies about a physical impairment or other important things which the company asks about in the application.

Under the "cooperation clause" you owe a duty to the insurance company to tell it at once of an accident, to tell it all the facts which will help it decide whether to settle a case or not, and to attend any trial and testify if asked.

Otherwise, an insurance company may be absolved from liability. Thus, in one case a driver may verify statements to the company as to facts, but testify to just the opposite set of facts at the trial. In one case, the driver did not report an accident for months. He had a duty under his policy to give the company prompt notice. This kept it from getting the facts to prepare for trial. In both these cases the company had no duty to pay.

What is "prompt notice?" Under the law a notice is late if the insurance company suffers because of its lateness. A court may excuse a delay if the insured could not give notice or if the delay was inadvertent. Most policies call for notice to the insurance company or its agent. Notice to a broker who is agent of the insured, and not of the company, may not be enough.

Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.

Petitions Unsure On Annexation

Proponents of annexation of the Inverness-Olema area to North Marin Water District were unsure today whether sufficient signatures were gained in election day petition circulation to start the annexation moving.

Dr. Leslie Webber, who heads the drive, said the petitions had not yet been all collected and the names counted. If fewer than the required five per cent were gained, he said, petitions will be circulated for the rest of this week.

Next week, he plans to present the petitions to the Local Agency Formation Commission.

Condition Poor From Tree Fall

Robert Fraser, 24, of 599 Fernando Drive, Novato, was in poor condition today in the intensive care unit at Marin General Hospital with injuries suffered when he fell from a tree on Fernhill Avenue, Ross, while working for Sohner Tree Service of San Anselmo.

Fraser suffered a fractured nose, fractured left wrist, multiple facial cuts and scrapes and may have suffered a concussion, the hospital reported.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Viewing Audience Not Considered

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —The television networks, so excellent in their treatment of such events as yesterday's elections, also unfortunately have inexplicable streaks when they are inconsiderate of the viewing audience.

Tonight, for instance, two of the major one-hour productions of the season will be on the air at the same time, in conflict.

"ABC Stage 67" is offering "The People Trap," a drama about a population-choked major city 100 years from now. The stars are Stuart Whitman, Vera Miles, Lee Grant and Connie Stevens, and there are cameo appearances by such headliners as Pearl Bailey, Lew Ayres, Jackie Robinson, Mort Sahl, Phil Harris, Cesar Romero and Betty Furness.

At the identical time, however, CBS-TV is presenting Red Skelton in a salute to circus clowns. This is not Skelton's regular weekly show, but a special entitled "Clown Alley," and his guests include Martha Raye, Robert Merrill, Amanda Blake, Audrey Meadows, Jackie Coogan and Vincent Price.

And since the CBS-TV show is indeed not part of a regular series, one must wonder why that network found it necessary to give such obvious blockbuster competition to the "Stage 67" experimental show—which is in its normal weekly slot. There is no ratings strength in "Stage 67" anyway, and CBS' scheduling goes sharply against recent attempts to at least give prime time experimental theatre a fair shake.

But this is not the only lack of consideration being shown by a network. On Dec. 7, NBC-TV had long planned on a "Hallmark Hall of Fame" production of Noel Coward's "Blithe Spirit," which will star Dirk Bogarde, Rosemary Harris, Rachel Roberts and Ruth Gordon.

That show will still go on, of course, but now comes ABC-TV with an amazingly inconsiderate piece of scheduling that will collide head-on with "Blithe Spirit." The ABC program is a documentary re-creation of the Biblical story of the Nativity, narrated by John Huston, entitled "Christ is Born" and part of the excellent "Saga of Western Man" series of specials produced by John Secondari and his wife Helen Jean Rogers.

It is simply unbelievable to this viewer that ABC could be so lacking in consideration not only to the home audience which obviously would want to see both programs—but also to its own "Saga of Western Man" series, which a while back was the only thing the network relied on for respectability in prime time. Mr. Secondari, Miss Rogers, Mr. Coward—and we at home—have all earned kinder treatment.

KTIM To View Route Proposals

The four routes proposed by the State Division of Highways for extension of Highway 17 and County Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen's suggested "K" route will be discussed tomorrow from 9 to 10 a.m. on Radio KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board" program.

Panelists will be Kettenhofen, highway district deputy engineer Clifton E. Greene, Sleepy Hollow resident Mrs. Lee Chaille, Charles E. Monte, owner of Chapel of the Hills Mortuary on Miracle Mile, and attorney Richard N. Bettini, who represents San Domenico School in Sleepy Hollow.

Questions phoned by the radio audience will be answered in the latter half-hour. The program, conducted by Kitty Oppenheimer, will repeated from tape Sunday at 12:30 p.m.

Meeting Date Shifted

Glenwood Homeowners Assn. did not meet last night because of the election. The meeting was postponed to 8 p.m. next Tuesday at the Church of the Redeemer, when members will discuss participation in dedication of San Rafael's new Glenwood fire house Nov. 19.

Tiburon Chamber Re-Elects Howell

William L. Howell was elected yesterday to a second year's term as president of the Tiburon Chamber of Commerce.

Donald B. Lethbridge was elected vice president; Mrs. Dorothy Boat, secretary, and Allan P. Gibson, re-elected treasurer.

Elected the board of directors chosen for 1967 were David W. Allen, Bert J. Talbot, Mrs. Elva Paske, Benjamin A. Farlatti, and William H. Rafter.

Nevadans Elect Negro Lawmaker

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Clark County voters yesterday elected the first Negro to serve in the Nevada Legislature. And he had a Democratic name.

Woodrow Wilson, 50, Republican candidate for the county's Fourth District Assembly seat, placed sixth in a field of nine successful candidates.

A warehouseman, he is a member of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People and the U. S. Civil Rights Commission.

Condition's Fair

Charles G. Sunday, 39, of the Air Force Radar Station atop Mount Tamalpais, was in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with a fractured jaw and damaged windpipe, suffered when his car hit a tree on Edgewood Avenue, Mill Valley, Sunday night.

Write-Ins For Drath Not Tallied

The write-in votes for Philip Drath had little effect in the defeat of Thomas T. Storer in Marin voting on his bid for representative of the First Congressional District.

"It appeared to be of such small significance, that we stopped counting the write-ins at 2 p.m. today," County Clerk George H. Gnoss said today. At that point, with 129 precincts counted, Drath had a total of 525 votes, Gnoss said.

The total write-in tally was to be computed later today.

Noon Rallies Will Continue

BERKELEY (UPI) — Noon rallies on the steps of the University of California's Sproul Hall will be allowed to continue "on a trial basis," chancellor Roger Heyns said yesterday.

But Heyns told the Academic Senate he was putting into effect three changes in use of the area, where the 1964 Free Speech Movement was kindled into a massive sit-in and widespread controversy.

The new regulations Heyns imposed for noon rallies limited the meetings from 12-10 to 12-50 so students could get to classes, limited microphone volume and enforced more strictly "the standards of conduct against those who use our free forum for slander, intimidation and deliberate misrepresentation."

Suffers Leg Cuts

Lee Hendrix, 50, a civilian serving aboard the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers' dredge, Chester Harding, was treated at Marin General Hospital yesterday for a leg cut suffered at the corps yard in Sausalito when he fell on a piece of reinforcing steel. He was pouring cement when the accident happened.

18 YEARS OR OVER ONLY

In Gary, Ind., Teen-Agers Being Used As Teen Traffic Jurors

GARY, Ind. (AP) — Teen-age traffic offenders in Gary are finding fellow teen-agers even harsher judges than the judges.

Three years ago, city judge Richard S. Kaplan, horrified at the number of teen-ager traffic offenders, instituted a juvenile jury to hear their cases and make recommendations to him.

The first year, he said, the jury heard some 300 cases a week. Now it hears about 30.

"These juvenile jurors are tough, tougher than I would ever be," said judge Kaplan, 69. "They usually ask, 'what's the maximum penalty we can give?' "

"We've taken away the licenses of hundreds of youngsters," the judge said.

There have been some unusual penalties dealt out, too.

Youths who have been involved in accidents are sentenced to write their own obituaries, interview morticians and view the bodies of accident victims in funeral parlors.

"They come back very subdued and horrified," judge Kaplan said. "Some of them are scared silly."

The juvenile jurors are all high school seniors. They are selected from a group of students recommended by school principals and student councils.

The jury is in session Monday and Wednesday evenings.

"All we're trying to do is preserve the lives of teen-agers," judge Kaplan said. "They are not criminals, but they are wild, undisciplined. They just don't understand the danger of an automobile."

Most parents have welcomed his innovations, the judge said. But he does not let it deter him when some object.

"I don't care about any heat I get from parents," he said. "If parents won't assume the responsibility of keeping teenagers in tow, I'll assume mine."

The program has brought some intangible benefits, too.

"I can go to bed at night and feel that maybe some kid's alive that wouldn't have been otherwise," the judge said.

Baby Planet Icarus Will Not Crash—Thus Nixing Calaminity

Special to the I-J

LOS ANGELES — The baby planet Icarus will NOT crash into the earth two years hence, thus scratching at least one rumored catastrophe from the list of upcoming calamities.

The reassuring word comes from Samuel Herrick of UCLA, who states firmly that the tiny asteroid will be about 4,000,000 miles away at its closest approach to earth on June 15, 1968.

Herrick's announcement puts to rest a spate of recent speculations that Icarus might be pulled far enough out of its orbit while skirting Mercury to put the asteroid on a collision course with earth.

The UCLA professor of engineering and astronomy speaks with considerable authority. He is the official scientific "keeper" of Icarus and has been charting its orbit since its discovery in 1949.

After analyzing a mountain of calculations and computer figures Herrick found this week that Icarus will pass by Mercury on May 1, 1968, at 10,000,000 miles. This distance, while just a block away by astronomical standards, is not close enough for Mercury's gravitational pull to have a major effect on the orbit of Icarus.

Herrick, a leading pioneer in rocketry and space navigation, collaborated in the project with Army Capt. Robert G. Totten, a UCLA graduate student in engineering.

Of the roughly 50,000 asteroids whirling around the sun, astronomers keep 1685 "in captivity" by calculating their orbits and by tracking with telescopes whenever the small planets come close enough for sighting.

The UCLA professor's research on Icarus and other asteroids has had a major impact on the science of celestial mechanics. From calculating the paths of minor planets, he has developed highly reliable and accurate techniques for forecasting and controlling the paths of space vehicles.

Executives Relearning At Fast Pace

Special to the I-J

LOS ANGELES — Thirty-one senior executives and administrators from across the country started back to a unique school in Pacific Palisades recently. For six fast-paced weeks, they were reacquainted with underlying engineering concepts and learn new developments in the world of engineering, a world where knowledge doubles at least every decade.

The resident school, known as "Modern Engineering for Engineering Executives," is sponsored by UCLA's Department of Engineering and University of California Extension. At a total cost of $8,000 to $10,000 per man, including travel, room and board, tuition and time away from his job, the school is designed to be a vital learning experience enabling the executive to improve his ability to analyze and evaluate new information relevant to his job. Enrollment is limited to provide close exchanges between students and faculty.

Moshe F. Rubinstein, coordinating professor of the program and associate professor of engineering, UCLA, said that "the executives take the course seriously and work hard studying from textbooks and specially written notes. Many of them continue to study the material long after the six weeks are over."

Held at the Santa Ynez Inn, the school deliberately creates an atmosphere of social informality and academic thoroughness. Short sleeved shirts and slacks are in order, and everyone is on a first name basis. The working week consists of five and a half days of classes, lectures and discussion periods. A regular day includes five scheduled lectures, plus sessions in which instructors are available for individual or small group discussions.

In the classroom two synchronized streams of mathematics and the physical sciences are developed and merged in integrated applications to problems of modern engineering. As the course progresses, emphasis will be placed on new developments and the basic phenomena from which new developments result.

At the end of the program, the executives will be asked to evaluate their six weeks of learning. Their frank comments and suggestions are carefully weighed by a faculty committee when preparing next year's program.

Grill Work Replaces Prison Bars

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Maximum security in a Gyo Obata designed - prison is a wire fence surrounding a pinwheel - like building.

The building has off-white cells with one wall painted cobalt blue or burnt orange. Instead of steel bars, horizontal concrete grills cover the windows. Flower gardens dot the prison area and the chapel has stained glass windows.

"If our idea is to rehabilitate," says architect Obata, a Japanese-American native of San Francisco, "the prisoner's environment has a profound effect on this program."

Obata, chief of design for Hellmuth, Obata and Kassabaum, Inc., architects, designed the Federal Maximum Security Penitentiary at Marion, Ill., the prison that replaced Alcatraz.

The firm is the master architectural consultant for Canada's medium and maximum security prisons. It has finished a correctional study for the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico and is working on a prison for the state of Hawaii in association with Honolulu architects.

"Before Marion," says Obata, "we had not worked on prisons. We threw out all the dungeon concepts and began on a plant that would have security without the air of depression common to older prisons."

All prisons designed by Obata have been surrounded by high mesh wire fences instead of stone walls. Steel bars have been replaced by horizontal concrete grills which are just as secure "but more aesthetic."

"We try to design prison complexes like a small community," says Obata.

"The old idea of cell tiers was rejected in favor of a single story," he continues. "We recommend that prisoners be given cells or rooms by themselves."

The architect says the single cell concept "gives a prisoner some privacy in a fishbowl environment." He says modern penologists believe that some kind of privacy is essential to retraining for the prisoners.

Obata's prisons look something like pinwheels. Several corridors, set on right angles that are not on a direct line with each other, extend from a central point.

At this junction, prison officers control exit and entrance to each corridor from inside a bullet - proof glass enclosure. Small closed circuit television cameras also are used for prison surveillance.

Double wire fences with guard towers surround the building.

"Security exists as surely as it does behind stone walls," says Obata.

But the modern penitentiary as seen by Obata doesn't stop at security. Garden areas are scattered throughout the grounds. Building interiors are painted different colors instead of the traditional institution green or grey.

"We attempt to make sure a comfortable chair is available in the rooms — we prefer saying rooms instead of cells," says the architect. "Indirect lighting instead of a glaring overhead light bulb is provided."

Obata's Canadian prison designs utilize the pinwheel idea with a satellite effect. This concept has a central administration building with several pinwheel prisons in orbit-like positions around it.

Each of the Canadian basic units is designed for 400 inmates. Additional units can be built on the same general plan as the need arises.

"This allows flexibility," says the architect. "Flexibility is of critical importance because of changing thought in prison training, treatment and security."

He says the designs can be used, with slight variations for local problems, at any point in Canada.

Prisons built from Obata's designs have cost from $5 million to $8 million.

"We try to understand the problems of the group asking us to design a prison and go from there economically and sociologically," he says.

Obata continues:

"After all a wire fence is cheaper than a stone wall, is just as secure and is more conducive to prisoner rehabilitation."

Home Treatment For TB Cases

TORONTO, Canada (SS) — At home treatment of tuberculosis patients is playing an increasing role in control of the disease in Canada.

Usually the patient is kept in a sanitarium just until he is non-infectious. Then he is released and treated with drugs as an outpatient.

This practice shortened the average sanitarium stay for TB patients by 40 per cent between 1954 and 1964. Today, patients are treated solely at home.

New Approach To Formal Wear

As the festive holiday season approaches, the time is now to take stock of your formal wear wardrobe.

The American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear makes a special point of the word "wardrobe" because the scope of men's formal wear his increased so dramatically in recent years. Even the average man—no "social butterfly"—finds increased needs for a variety of evening clothes for the ever-growing number of formal functions.

Not so many years ago there were only three basic formal wear outfits — ultra-formal white tie and tails for very formal galas, plain black or midnight-blue tuxedos for semi-formal occasions and white dinner jackets for summer or tropical resort wear.

Of course, those standard types are still correct and widely worn. However, the newer, updated formal wear is so appealing, so flattering to the wearer and so comfortable, that its popularity has rocketed evening clothes to unprecedented heights of acceptance.

The enthusiasm for the newer, imaginatively styled, richly colored dinner jackets has created a category that while closely and inextricably connected to the old, assumes a character of its own. In this category are formalwear casuals, the so-called "fun formals' or formal separates.

This new formal look is ideal for many holiday parties and dances. It is worn with increasing frequency to "at home" gatherings and, of course, is the "in" thing for tropical cruise and resort wear.

Available in all the currently popular suit silhouettes, the colorful dinner jackets are made with peak lapels, notch lapels, clover-leaf, fishmouth, L-shape and T-shape lapels. Newest are the double-breasted models, updated from "the good old days," in both shawl and peaked styles.

While all of the models in both contemporary and traditional styles are available in black, the more casual interpretations include new rich blues, golds, garnets, deep greens and luminous grays, with some of those colors worked in rich velvets and brocades. Others—for winter wear in the south—show up in lighter shades, Madras, plaids and prints.

The very newest for southern and cruise wear are striped dinner jackets. These include fine black stripes on white silk, blue and black stripes on linen-like off-white grounds and fine white stripes on medium blue or deep red grounds.

Two formal wear ideas that are due to be introduced this season are resort dinner suits and velvet "at home" suits.

The resort suit is made of a natural colored linen-like fabric with trousers to match the shawl-collar coat. The narrow matching cord trim on the shawl collar is repeated as the stripe on the trousers.

The velvet "at home" suit comes in deep rich red and a dark bottle green. The jacket is double-breasted and carries a black satin-faced shawl collar and the matching trousers are trimmed with a satin stripe, too. It is suggested that the "at home" suit is smartly complemented with a silk ascot worn under the open collar of a formal shirt.

Chinese Troops Asking Questions

GANGTOK, Sikkim (AP)—Chinese troops facing Indian soldiers on the frontier of this Indian protectorate high in the Himalayas are asking, with loudspeakers a disturbing question.

"Why are you here?" they shout.

Indian officials say this is disturbing because it implies a Chinese claim to territory India has pledged to protect and is reminiscent of Chinese propaganda that preceded the 1962 China-India border war.

Are They Pigeons Or Parrots?

SYDNEY (AP) — There at Sydney Airport were two innocent-looking cages of Australian pigeons consigned to an address in the Netherlands.

But customs officers looked closely, and in secret compartments in the center of the cages they found 46 Australian parrots.

There are no restrictions on the export of pigeons, but Australian parrots are a prohibited export.

The smugglers had cut off the tails of the parrots so they could fit in the inner compartments.

Customs officer Harvey Bates said the parrots were of the king, mulga, and bandit variety, 12 to 17 inches long. These types of parrots bring up to 200 dollars each on the overseas market.

Two of the parrots were dead when Customs men opened the cages, and three more died later.

Children Are Saying Hello To Officers

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Children are saying hello to cops in St. Louis this fall.

William Handy, director of the Police Community Relations Division, says the purpose of the greetings is to foster better relations between policemen and the community.

Patrolman John Carroll, 32, had the idea in the winter of 1965 "because there didn't seem to be the same spirit of friendliness between children and policemen that there used to be."

He talked to 150 children at a southwest St. Louis grade school then and they agreed to say howdy to policemen from Feb. 9 through Feb. 21, 1966, just to see what would happen.

The children had fun and the police officers in the area were surprised at their new popularity.

Arlene Davis, 9, one of the children who took part in the pilot hello program, reported that she even helped an officer.

"I said hi to him," the fourth grader said. "And the officer said hi. Then I asked him if I could help and he told me about this dog which had bitten someone. So I helped him look for it. We didn't find it."

A seventh grader, Charles Eccher 12, commented:

"You know policemen like to talk with children and have little kids wave at them."

Charles had carried on an extended conversation with one officer about the fortunes of the St. Louis Hawks of the National Basketball Association.

Carroll said his young good will ambassadors registered 700 friendly contacts with policemen during the experimental "Hi" period.

Baby's Arrival Can Create Problems

Like everyone else, children are subject to jealousy. So dependent are they on attention and love from their parents that anything that seems to deprive them of this needed support stimulates them to disturbing behavior. At no time is the destructive impact of jealousy more evident than when a new baby arrives in the home.

It is unrealistic to expect the older child to accept the newcomer with no feelings that he has been displaced, because he has—by a very demanding young individual who takes almost all of the mother's time and energies.

If the characteristic relationship between parents and child is a loving and trusting one, the child will be in better position to absorb the blow of competition. If, on the other hand, the child has been on the rereiving end of inconsistent treatment from his parents—lavishly indulged one day and ignored or dealt with impatiently the next, he is already on an emotional roller-coaster and he may view the arrival of the newcomer as a catastrophe.

When should a child be told that a new baby is on the way? If he notices the physical changes in the mother and asks about them, he should be told at that time. If he does not ask, he should be told a few weeks before delivery of the baby is expected.

Any changes which affect the older child should be made as fas as possible in advance of the birth of the new baby. If he is ready for nursery school, he should be well launched in the new setting before the baby arrives.

If his bedroom is being switched, make him feel that it's a promotion rather than a displacement. If it is at all possible to do so, the child should be kept at home while the mother goes to the hospital for delivery.

When the infant is brought home from the hospital, it can be expected that the older child will revert to baby-like behavior to protest the fact that most of the mother's time is devoted to taking care of the new arrival. He may demand a bottle or lapse from his toilet training and ask to be diapered, or become an ardent thumbsucker. He should be indulged in his need to be babied; it rarely lasts long.

Perhaps a more serious problem is the level of anger and resentment he feels toward the new infant. Defenseless infants have had their heads beaten, their hair pulled and their cribs overturned by siblings. When the infant is protected from these expressions of anger (as it should be), the older child may mistreat a pet or a young playmate, may have nightmares, or may go on a hunger strike.

When the child shares with the parents in taking care of the new infant, he feels less left out and develops a sense of achievement which somewhat compensates for the competition he is receiving.

Read Those Labels On Medicine

Medications which can be purchased from your drugstore without a doctor's prescription —or what are commonly called "over-the-counter" drugs — are entirely safe if they are properly used, and are in many instances effective and helpful. The chief problem which the use of such drugs presents is that many people use them improperly.

The source of guidance for the use of these readily available and widely promoted drugs should be the label which the manufacturer is required by law to affix to the container and through which he provides the user with relevant information about the medication.

The same laws which regulate the labeling of medication do NOT apply to the advertising of them, and many people are misinformed and deluded by taking literally all the claims for drugs which are presented in television and radio commercials and in newspaper and magazine advertisements.

Here are some precautions which should be followed in the use of over-the-counter drugs:

1. Be sure the drug you buy is intended for the disorder you want to treat. Many commercially available drugs have similar names, and it is all too easy erroneously to pick up medication intended for quite a different illness. If you have any confusion about the exact name of the drug you want, read the indications listed on the label. If your disorder is not specifically listed, do not buy the drug.

2. Do not take the medicine in any greater dosage than the directions indicate, nor any more frequently than instructed. It is not true that if a little medication brings relief, a lot more will bring about a complete cure.

3. Read the fine print and follow it to the letter. What the commercial or ad does not tell you but what the manufacturer must tell you on the label is that some drugs which are safe for most people may not be safe for some people with specific health problems. If you have high blood pressure, glaucoma, or kidney disease, many widely used drugs may have an adverse effect on you. The label will warn you of this.

4. Take the manufacturer at his word. On many drugs it is clearly stated that the medication is intended for temporary relief of minor symptoms and that if the symptoms persist, you should see your physician. Don't take the drug indefinitely.

5. Be particularly wary about samples of drugs which come unsolicited through the mail. Unless the information on the label leaves no doubt in your mind that it is suitable for you, do not use it. The safest way of dealing with the drug is to throw it away—but don't throw it where children can get at it.

6. Learn to be skeptical—not of the formal information on the label but of accompanying advertising material. The drug that tastes better is not necessarily the better medication. The fact that a drug is fast-acting may be meaningless. A drug that is 50 per cent stronger is not necessarily 50 per cent more effective.

20-20 Vision Not Necessary To Reassembly Of Engines

CONCORD (AP) — It takes a good mechanic to tear down, assemble and adjust an outboard engine. He has to have a nice touch. But he doesn't necessarily have to possess 20-20 vision.

Gray-haired Ray Atkins has been working steadily on outboards for five years. He is totally blind.

With the knowledge in his hands, Atkins manages to disassemble the engines and put them together again at Western Marine, a Concord boat sales and service company.

He repairs two to three engines every day. He moves about with ease, using his long, light cane.

Deterioration of the optic nerves caused Atkins to become totally blind in 1952. He had been a heavy equipment mechanic.

"I made up my mind," he says, "that I was not going to sit down and feel sorry for myself. I didn't know what to do. But the idea of running a vending stand didn't appeal to me."

Atkins sought the counsel of the California Orientation Center. The blind and partly blind are given aptitude tests and training to enable them to gain confidence and become active participants in the world around them.

Knowing that Atkins had been trained as a mechanic, the counselors suggested he try working on the smaller two-cycle outboards. Then began a long process of re-educating himself.

"The only thing my earlier experience did for me was to teach me the value of tools," he said.

Now, he has no trouble fitting pistons on damaged drive shaft sections, and checking magnetos and distributors. For the electrical work he uses an instrument designed and built especially for him. It is a standard box for coils and condenser checks to which has been added an outside pointer and braille marks. It is connected with an oscillator. Whenever the pointer is set the oscillator squeals when the enclosed needle indicator reaches the same spot. Another blind man developed the device.

Atkins says the 18 months in which he had partial vision before he became totally blind was worse than having no sight at all. The battle to use partial vision, along with the senses of feeling and hearing, was much harder, he said, than getting along with no sight at all.

Sightless, he said he could relax and make the best of the situation. When he had partial vision, he added, he would not have believed that could be so.
